THE ANTIOCH NEWS.

VOL. XXVII. ANTIOCH, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1913 NO 3

WILL OF GEO. LYON PROBATED

McAlister Hospital and First Presbyterian Church Get $1000 EACH

SONS GET BULK OF ESTATE

Mrs. Geo. Lyon Gets the Residence and Two Sons Gets the Big Store Building

The will of the late George R. Lyon was probated in county court Monday morning and it shows among other things that the Presbyterian church and McAlister hospital each have been remember d to the extent of $1,000 by Mr. Lyon. The remainder of the estate goes to immediate relatives.

The petition filed in the court proceedings some time ago showed an estimated value of $135,000 in real estate and $40,000 in personal property.

The bulk of the wealthy man's estate goes to his sons, Charles and Wm. the widow, of course getting her share. But, in the total, the sons apparently gets the major portion of the estate left by Mr. Lyon and besides, the G. R. Lyon & Sons' business, including stock, was turned over to the sons some time ago according to information just out. It develops that the business and books have been run in the sons' names for some time, which showed that the father had relinquished active connections with the store for a long time. The will leaves the store buildings to the sons, the widow getting [illegible] and the residence on S[illegible] as pow[illegible] sons, and [illegible]

Here are the two provisions of the will, clause two being the usual one filed in wills, providing for funeral expenses, etc.

2. First Presbyterian chnrch, $1,000 interest on same to be paid to the Ladies' Social Union.

3. Jane McAlister hospital, $1,000.

4. Mary L. Hutchins, Ethel Hutchins and Ned Hutchins, nieces and nephew, $500 each.

5. To widow, Phillippa Lyon, all title to the Lyon residence, corner Sheridan Road and Grand avenue.

6. To widow, all household furniture goods, carriages, horses, etc., of chattel nature (not including money, stocks, notes, mortgages, and other securities) in the Lyon residence on Sheridan Road.

7. To sons, Charles and William, undivided one-half each of the G. R. Lyon stores on Genesee and Wayhington streets.

8. To grandchildren, $5,000 each to be paid to their father (Wm. Lyon) and by him carefully invested until they reach their majority when said money and interest accrued, shall be paid over to them. (There are two grandchildren only, George Reed Lyon and Elizabeth Lyon, children of Wm. Lyon.

9. To widow and two sons, Charles and William, all the rest and residue of estate, whether real or personal, to be divided in this proportion: one half to widow and one fourth to each son.

10. Sons, Charles and William named as executors without surety on their bond.

The will was dated January 12, 1907, and W. C. Upton and John Reardon were witnesses. The bonds of the two sons who were named as executors, were fixed by Judge Persons at $80,000, a provision of the will being that the sons should not have to furnish sureties on the bond.

Hold Fast to Love.

Therefore, come what may, hold fast to love. We win by tenderness, we conquer by forgiveness.—F. W. Robertson.

After a Day of Rest.

One reason why Tuesday papers are so much more cheerful than Monday papers is that the list of killed and injured is so much shorter.

Origin of "Whisky."

The word Usk is an Anglicized form of the Welsh word wysg, a Celtic word meaning water. It is connected with the Irish word uisque, from which the Saxon gets the word whisky.

FARMERS REFUSE OFFER

Farmers Turn Down Contract For Milk at $1.75 Per Huudred

A flat rate of $1.75 a hundred pounds for winter milk, with a premium of 10 cents a hundred for all milk testing 3.8 per cent or better in butter fat, was the offer made by the Borden company to the milk producers of the Richmond district Monday, the contract day. Farmers generally were disappointed and dissatisfied with the price offered and practically all of them refused to sign contracts.

The price demanded by the Milk Producers' association is $1.92½ per hundred pounds. This is based on milk testing 3.5 per cent butter fat, with a four-cent premium for each tenth exceeding and a corresponding reduction for each tenth below.

The Borden price, while higher than last year, is under the scale offered 2 years ago. Farmers declare they must receive more money for their milk because stock is higher and the expected shortage in grain and corn will send feed prices soaring.

With the Borden offer Monday went a letter to the dairymen which reads: "Should conditions arise which warrant an adjustment of these prices, the company stands ready to make such adjustment, as outlined in our letter of May 29, 1913, and in harmony with the policy established on the past summer contract."

The letter of Mav 29 was the one which informed the farmers that the company was mailing checks covering an additional six cents per hundred pounds for May milk, stating as the reason that other companies were paying more for milk shipped to Chicago and the Borden company proposed to protect its loyal dairymen. The policy was followed during the summer. An advance of six cents was paid for each month except June, when the advance was 16 cents.

Dairymen, however, do not look with favor on the policy of the Borden company and say that the only reason they boosted their price over their first offer last spring and paid a bonus for summer milk was because they were forced to take some action favorable to the farmers in order to hold their patrons, many of whom deserted and signed with other companies which offered higher prices. Farmers interpret the letter issued by the company to mean that it will pay more money if it is forced to and it is evident the producers intend to do a little forcing, for very few of the patrons of the Borden plants in this vicinity are signing and declare they will withhold their signatures to contract until a better price is quoted for winter milk.

The Borden contract offered Monday, the schedule offered by the company last year and the scale demanded by the producers are here given:

	1913	1912	Demand
October	$1.65	$1.60	$1.85
November	1.75	1.75	1.95
December	1.85	1.80	2.00
January	1.85	1.75	2.00
February	1.75	1.70	1.90
March	1.65	1.60	1.85
Average	1.75	1.70	1.92½

--Richmond Gazette.

WEDDING IS A SURPRISE

Miss Lillian Turner, Formerly of Antioch, Married at Crown Point

In speaking of the marriage of Miss Lillian Turner, formerly of this place but now a resident of Grayslake the Grayslake Times has the following to say:

Dr L. H. Coulson and Miss Lillian Turner stole a march on their friends in this village about a week ago, went to Crown Point, Ind., and were married. The license was issued on the 10th of the present month. From Crown Point they went to Milwaukee after which they returned. The marriage had been kept a secret for about a week but in some manner got to the boys who later arranged a welcome which was administered Wednesday evening.

Dr. Coulson has been practising there for about eighteen months, has worked up a good business and is very popular in the village.

Miss Turner is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Turner, Sr., well and favorably known, having lived in the vicinity practically all of her life. She has for several years conducted a millinery store.

For the present the Doctor will reside with his bride at the home of her parents on Centre avenue, but will commence housekeeping as soon as a residence can be secured.

The Times wishes to join the host of friends in extending congratulations.

The News joins with the many Antioch friends of the bride in wishing her a long life of happiness.

RECEIVES FINAL ORDER

Naturalization Officals in Last Call For Applications For Papers

SATURDAY IS LAST DAY

After That Time Applicants For Second Papers Will be Forced to Secure First Papers

Clerk of the Circuit Court L. O. Brockway, a portion of whose duties is the issuing of naturalization papers, is in receipt of a communication from Deputy Commissioner of Naturalization R. F. Crist of Washington in which attention is called to the fact that after September 27, no second papers can be secured on first papers issued prior to September 27, 1906.

In other words any man who secured his first papers prior to Sept. 27, 1906, has 3 more days in which to become a full fledged citizen and if he fails to do so in that time, he will have to begin all over again and make his declaration of intention and then wait the prescribed length of time before securing his second papers.

Although the law went into effect seven years ago and notice at that time was furnished as to its provisions, hundreds of men have failed to secure their second papers and will have to do so immediately in order to prevent their declaration of intention from becoming void.

The naturalization department is taking great pains to properly inform all officials having the issuing of naturalization papers in charge, as to the details of the new law in order to prevent mistakes and the clerks of courts throughout the country are being cautioned to watch closely the date of all first papers presented as a basis for full citizenship.

Tightening up the naturalization laws has been marked during the past few years. Previously a man could vote on his first papers and thousands of citizens simply made their declaration of intention and then forgot all about it.

In 1912 a law went into effect requiring a man to be a full-fledged citizen in order to enjoy the right of suffrage and this caused a general rush to naturalization headquarters. Many men were found at that time who had voted for years on their first papers but were compelled to secure their second papers or lose the right to vote.

Now the naturalization authorities have tightened still further the conditions under which citizenship may be secured and after next Saturday a declaration of intention becomes void if not not exercised as a means of securing full citizenship papers inside of seven years.

SHOOTS A DEER IN LAKE COUNTY; WAS FINED FIFTY DOLLARS

Arteur Boss of Half Day was fined $50 last Thursday for shooting a deer in Lake county. He was hunting with Henry Perry and George Knapp, both well known residents of that village.

Boss might have escaped prosecution but this particular deer, belonged to Louis Swift, millionaire packer, who lives in Lake Forest.

Mr. Swift has several deer on his grounds and two escaped a week ago. The fine was imposed by Justice John Mathews of Lake Forest.

Boss paid $50 for shooting the deer, and since the fine was imposed this question is being discussed by residents of the central section of the county. Does Boss get the venison or will the multi millionaire claim the dead deer as his property.

To Heat the Entire Room.

A Californian has designed a fireplace that sends out its heat in all directions, the chimney being supported above the grate by steel columns.

Handy.

Mrs. Knicker—"I suppose you've missed your husband terribly since he's been away?" Mrs. Bocker—"Oh, dreadfully! He makes such a splendid fourth at bridge."

SEEK TO RAGAIN LOST TAXES

Forty Rich Lake Foresters Change Residence to Cook County

BECUSE OF TREATMENT

Review Board Wants to Amicably Adjust Differences and Get Their Taxes Back in Lake County

That upwards of forty wealthy residents of Lake Forest have changed their official residence from Lake county to Cook county because of arbitrary raises made on their personal property by Thomas Appleton of Shields township, in which Lake Forest is located and that the assessor's desire to avenge himself on these wealthy men who always opposed him when he ran for office of mayor, supervisor and finally assessor has thus caused a big loss in taxes in Lake county's exchequer, is the statement of members of the Lake County Board of Review who are endeavoring to affect a compromise with the rich men whereby they can induce them to return to Lake county as residents and thus pay taxes in Lake rather than Cook county.

It is just learned that a few days ago the Lake County Board of Review held a conference in the LaSalle hotel, Chicago, when they met thirty Lake Forest residents, who having become disgusted with their treatment in Lake county, had changed their residence and filed their personal property schedules in Chicago. They talked the matter over pro and con and the outcome of the conference was that the reviewers promised the Lake Foresters that they would endeavor to amicably readjust their schedules so they would have no complaint to offer of Lake county's treatment.

"I fully expect that at least twenty of these men will at once resume their residence in Lake county as a result of our talk with them and our expression to them that we wish to be fair at all times in these matters" said Edward Putman of Wauconda, the Republican member of the Lake County Board of Review. Edward Conrad, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors and F. B. Huber of this place are the other members of the Board of Review.

A case which illustrates the conditions at Lake Forest, as explained by the Board of Review is that of Granger Farwell, a prominent Chicagoan, who has lived at Lake Forest for years. In his case Assessor Appleton raised his personal property assessment $200,000. According to an affidavit which Mr. Farwell made and which is now in possession of the Board of Review. Mr. Farwell furnished the assessor with a detailed statement of his personal assets, going into every little detail to show where his holdings were and to show what incumbrance exist on his property. It showed incumbrances aggregating $406,000 in notes, etc., hence he contended and the Board of Review believes he is right, that he should not be given the $200,000 raise which Assessor Appleton handed him. The board accordingly made plans reducing his assessment proportionate to his assets as filed in his affidavit.

Another instance is that of E. A. Russell who had been raised up to $25,000 assessed valuation. The Board has reduced his assessments $10,000 for the same reason—that they believed he was arbitrarily raised.

MABTIN HOGAN IS KILLED INSTANTLY BY A TRAIN AT RUSSELL

Martin Hogan, a well known farmer living near Russell, was killed about 11:30 o'clock Saturday at Russell station while returning to his home after having brought the daily supply ot milk to the village as was his practice each day.

He had waited for one train to pass and drove his horse on the tracks and failed to notice an approaching passenger train from the opposite direction. The engine hit him full force throwing his horse and wagon fifty feet and the man himself was hurled 75 feet, being killed instantly. The horse was also killed instantly and the light wagon was smashed to splinters.

Hogan was about 45 years old, married and has a family. He was well to do and lived in the vicinity many years.

The crossing at which Hogan met death was the main one of the St. Paul in the village.

MAKE TRIP TO MINNESOTO

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Webb Tell of Their Northern Trip

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Webb returned on Tuesday of last week from a two weeks visit in St. Paul. While away they visited many interesting places, including the state capitol, which is built of Minnesota granite and Georgia white marble and cost $5,000,000, and is said to be the finest state capitol in the United States. Also the State Prison at Stillwater, one of the large industries carried on there is the manufacture of binder twine. The output in 1912 being 18,000,000 pounds.

Minnehaha Falls was also visited, it is about a mile above where it empties into the Mississippi, it is a most charming picturesque place. The falls are 40 feet high. One looking and listening to the water gets a better conception of Longfellow's Hiawatha. About a quarter of a mile below the falls and on the point between the Mississippi and the Minnehaha creek is situated the State Soldiers Home and one of the nice things about this institution is the woman's building where the wives and widows of the veterans are also given a nice comfortable home. Which we think Uncle Sam should do for all of them

The old historic Fort Snelling is about two miles farther down the Mississippi at the mouth of the Minnesota river. The reservation contains 2300 acres. It is one of the nations important military posts. The garrison has something like 1500 soldiers. The land was acquired for the governmet, from the Sioux nation in 1805. The old round tower and the old block house still stand and are in a pretty good state of preservation.

Indian Mound Park is situated on a high bluff 200 feet above the Mississippi and 931 feet above the sea level.

While in Minneapolis Mr. Webb met an old time Hickory boy, Frank Prior, he will be remembered by some of the older residents. He left Hickory just 50 years ago, but still retains a vivid recollection of Old Hickory and asked many questions about the old places, and the (then young and middle aged people) but tomany we had to answer gone.

THIEVES ARE BUSY AGAIN

Farmers Are Going to Form a Protective Organization this Winter

Farmers residing along the lake shore to the north of the city are making arrangements for the formation of a Farmers' Protective organization to protect their crops from being stolen. It is alleged that in the past ten days thieves from Kenosha and Racine have invaded the farms along the lake shore and have stolen produce to the value of hundreds if not thousands of dollars. One farmer has reported that no less than two acres of his potatoes have been dug up and stolen while thefts of onions and cabbage are being reported to the officials nearly every night.

The thieves are in no way modest and it is declared that in some cases the men have driven on the farms with a wagon and taken a whole wagon load of potatoes or other products. It is declared that some of this produce has been brought into Kenosha and sold to stores in that city. While it is alleged that a majority of the raids have been made by foreigners, farmers declare that it has been a common thing for people in automobiles to raid the fields and get away with potatoes and onions enough to make a winter supply for an ordinary family.

The cabbage fields just at this time are ready for harvest and the thieves are giving them special attention. Many of the farmers not object to giving away a head of cabbage or a bushel of onions, but they draw the line at wagon loads.

The sheriffs of Racine, Kenosha and Lake counties have been asked to aid in the efforts that are being made to put an end to this thievery. The thieves do no limit their work to the fields of cabbage, potatoes and onions, but reports of stripping orchards have been received from several sections. It is probable that the farmers will establish guards over their fields and make a generous use of shot guns in driving out the invading band of thieves.

Forty Years a Public Charge.

Forty years in the workhouse is the record of a man living at New Ross, County Wexford, Ireland. The inmate is seventy years old.

Pessimistic Reflection.

In our pessimistic moments we are prone to reflect that, no matter what time of year it is, the pie always seems to be made from last year's apples.—Milwaukee Journal.

ORVIS BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY

J. K. Orvis is Bound Over to Grand Jury on Charge of Wife Abandonment

HAS BONDS OF $1,000

Will the Grand Jury Indict? Belief is That, in Face of Mr. Dady's Feelings, the Jury Will Not Ind'ct

The binding over to the grand jury of J. K. Orvis, well known Waukegan attorney, in bonds of $1,000 on the charge of wife abandonment, is, no doubt, the beginning of what may develop into one of the most sensational cases that city has had, in face of the developments which may come from it.

The hearing before Justice Welch was held Saturday, but the justice reserved his decision until Monday when he announced he had decided to hold Mr. Orvis to the grand jury, this decision being made, despite the fact that State's Attorney Dady, who prosecuted the case, openly stated in court after hearing the evidence which proved Orvis had not denied his wife any comforts of her home, did not believe the case was one requiring criminal action but that if any were started it should be a civil suit for separate maintenance rather than a criminal action.

The justice, however, despite this statement of the prosecutor, bound the well known attorney over and thus begins what is sure to be a hard fought case, providing it ever comes to trial. Just how it will come to trial or just how a grand jury will indict Orvis in face of the prosecutor openly stating before the justice passed on the case that he did not consider the evidence sufficient, is hard to understand.

If Mr. Dady feels as he does when the grand jury sits, why he merely will tell the jury that he has insufficient evidence to ask for an indictment and that will end the injustice court case.

It developed at the hearing that Mr. Orvis had been paying his wife $25 a week since 1908 and ever since he left Waukegan to take up the railroad work at Palatine and Wauconda. The last payment made to her was in June. A little later he sent a check for $75 over to his stenographer at his Waukegan office with instructions to go to his home on West street and get his spring overcoat, his Masonic charm and his Elk's cuff buttons, instructing her not to give the check until she had the other articles. At the hearing it was shown that Mrs. Orvis refused to give up his effects and therefore the check was not handed to her. Later she reconsidered the matter and sought to give up the articles but was unable to do so.

Mrs. Orvis, on the stand admitted that her credit at stores in Waukegan had never been questioned, that she was able to go anywhere and get what she wished; that Mr. Orvis had paid her $25 a week up to June and had paid the house taxes, the coal bills, etc., as well.

It was also shown at the hearing that the death of Lloyd Robillard, who had been furnished a home at the Orvis residence since he was a young lad, had cost Mr. Orvis $300, in the search for the body in the northern river and other features connected with the fatality. This expense Mr. Orvis explained, he met without argument, tending further to show that he kept up his home.

Lee Minnis, brother of Mrs. Orvis, said the house needed nothing in the way of comforts, except, perhaps a new rug.

When Justice Welch said he would reserve his decision after Mr. Dady had expressed his views, Mr. Orvis insisted that if he desired to bind him to the grand jury in face of the evidence, not to delay matters until later but to do so at once. The delay in a decision, however was made.

Profitable Cherry Orchards.

Two cherry orchards in New South Wales, Australia, yielded $10,000 worth of cherries this season.

Lead in Flax Production.

Russia leads the world in the production of flax fiber and Argentina in the production of seed.

GOING SOME

16

SYNOPSIS.

Cowboys of the Flying Heart ranch are heartbroken over the loss of their much-prized phonograph by the defeat of their champion in a foot-race with the cook of the Centipede ranch. A house party is on at the Flying Heart. J. Wallingford Speed, cheer leader at Yale, and Culver Covington, inter-collegiate champion runner, are expected. Helen Blake, Speed's sweetheart, becomes interested in the loss of the phonograph. She suggests to Jean Chapin, sister of the owner of the ranch, that she induce Covington, her lover, to win back the phonograph. Helen declares that if Covington won't run, Speed will. The Cowboys are hilarious over the prospect. Speed and his valet, Larry Glass, trainer at Yale, arrive. Helen Blake asks Speed, who has posed to her as an athlete, to race against the Centipede man. The cowboys join in the appeal to Wally, and fearing that Helen will find him out, he consents. He insists, however, that he shall be entered as an unknown, figuring that Covington will arrive in time to take his place. Fresno, glee club singer from Stanford university and in love with Helen, tries to discredit Speed with the ladies and the cowboys. Speed and Glass put in the time they are supposed to be training playing cards in a secluded spot. The cowboys explain to Speed how much the race means to them. Speed assures them he will do his best. The cowboys tell Glass it is up to him to see that Speed wins the race. Willie, the gunman, declares the trainer will go back east packed in ice, if Speed fails. A telegram comes from Covington saying he is in jail at Omaha for ten days. Glass in a panic forces Speed to begin training in earnest. Speed declares to Larry that the best way out is for him (Speed) to injure himself. Glass won't stand for it. Glass forces Speed out at sunrise to practice running. At the instigation of Fresno the cowboys put ice in Speed's shower bath.

CHAPTER XIII.—Continued.

"I give him a nerve treatment. A jack-rabbit jumped at him this morning and he bolted to the outside fence." Larry forced his employer to a seat, then, securing a firm hold of the flesh, began to discourse learnedly upon anatomy and hygiene, the while his victim writhed. It was evident that the cattlemen were intensely interested. "Well, sir, when I first got him his sploven was in terrible shape," said Larry. "In fact, I never saw such a—"

"What was in terrible shape?" ventured the tenor.

"His sploven."

"Sploven! Is that a locality or a beverage?"

Glass glowered at the cause of the interruption. "It's a nerve-center, of course!" Then to the others, he ran on, glibly: "The treatment was simple, but it took time. You see, I had to first trace his bedildo to its source, like this." He thrust a finger into Wally's back and plowed a furrow upward. "You see?" He paused, triumphantly. "A fore-shortened bedildo! It ain't well yet."

"Can a man run fast with one of them?" inquired Willie.

"Certainly, cer-tain-ly—provided, of course, that the percentage of spelldiffer in the blood offsets it."

Both cowboys came closer now, and hung eagerly upon every word.

"And—does it do—that?" they questioned, while Fresno suggested that it was not easy to tell without bleeding the patient.

"No, no! You can hear the spell-differs." Glass motioned to Willie. "Put your ear to his chest. Hear anything?"

"Heart's poundin' like a calf's at a brandin'."

"Which proves it!" proudly asserted the trainer. "Barrin' accidents, Mr. Speed will be in the pink of condition by Saturday."

The cowmen beamed benignantly.

"That's fine!"

"We are sure pleased, and we've got something for you, Mr. Speed. Come on, Mr. Fresno, and give us a hand. We'll bring it in."

"It's a present!" exclaimed the athlete, brightly, when the three had gone out. "They seem more friendly this morning."

"Yes!" Glass laughed, mirthlessly. "They think you're going to win."

"Well, how do you know I can't win? You never saw this cook run."

"I don't have to; I've seen you."

"Just the same, I'm in pretty good shape. Maybe I could run if I really tried."

"Send yourself along, kid. It won't harm you none." The speaker fanned himself, and took a seat in the cosey-corner.

"Ah! Here they come, bearing gifts." Speed rose in pleased expectancy. "I wonder what it can be?"

The three who had just left re-entered the room, carrying a trayload of thick railroad crockery.

"We've brought your breakfast to you," explained Stover. "We'd like you to eat alone till after the race." Still Bill began to whittle what appeared to be a blood-rare piece of flesh, while Willie awkwardly arranged the dishes.

"You want me to eat as well as sleep here?"

"Exactly."

"Oh, I can't do that! I'm sorry, but—"

"Don't make us insist." Willie looked up from his tray, and Glass raised a moist hand and said:

"Don't make 'em insist."

With fascinated stare Speed drew nearer to Stover and examined the meat bone.

"Why—why, that's raw!" he exclaimed.

"Does look rar'," agreed the foreman.

"Then take it out and build a fire under it. I'll consent to eat here, but I won't turn cannibal, even to please you."

"I'm sorry." Stover did not interrupt his carving.

"Your diet ain't been right," explained Willie. "You ain't wild enough to suit us."

"Is this a joke?"

"We ain't never joked with you yit, have we?"

"No. But—"

"This breakfast goes as she lays!" Glass broke abruptly into smothered merriment. "When I laugh nowadays it's a funny joke," he giggled.

That grown men could be so stupid was unbelievable, and Wally, seeing himself the object of a senseless prank, was roused to anger.

"Lawrence, get my coat," said he. "I've been bullied enough; I'm going up to the house." When Stover only continued whittling methodically, he burst out: "Stop honing that shinbone! If you like it you can eat it! I'm going now to swallow a stack of hot cakes with maple syrup!"

"Mr. Speed," Willie impaled him with a steady glare, "you'll eat what we tell you to, and nothin' else! If we say 'grass,' grass it'll be. You're goin' to beat one Skinner if it takes a human life. And if that life happens to be yours, you got nobody but yourself to blame."

"Indeed!"

"You heard me! I've been set to ride herd on you daytimes, the other boys 'll guard you nights. We been double-crossed once—it won't happen again."

"You intend to make me eat this disgusting stuff, whether I want to or not?" Even yet the youth could not convince himself that this was other than a joke.

"No." Willie shook his head. "We just aim to make you want to eat it."

Then Larry Glass made his fatal mistake.

"Say, why don't you let Mr. Speed buy you a new phonograph, and call the race off?" he inquired.

Stover, stricken dumb, paused, knife in hand; Willie stared as if bereft of motion. Then the former spoke slowly. "Looks like we'd ought to smoke up this fat party, Will."

Willie nodded, and Glass realized that the little man's steel-blue eyes were riveted balefully upon him.

"I've had a hunch it would come to that," the near-sighted one replied. "Every time I look at him I see a bleedin' bullet hole in his abominable region, about here." He laid a finger upon his stomach, and Glass felt a darting pain at precisely the same spot.

"That's where you hit the gambler at Ogden," he heard Stover say—it might have been from a great distance—"but I aim for the bridge of the nose."

"The belly ain't so sudden as the eye-socket, but it's more lingerin,' and a heap painfuller," explained the gun man, and Speed was moved to sympathy.

"Larry only wanted to please you—eh, Larry?" he said, nervously, but

"Heart's Pounding Like a Calf's at Brandin'."

Glass made no reply. His distended orbs were frozen upon Willie. It was doubtful if he even heard.

"Our honor ain't for sale," Still Bill declared.

Here Berkeley Fresno spoke. "Of course not. And you mustn't think that Speed is trying to get out of the race. He wants to run! And if anything happened to prevent his running he'd be broken-hearted, I know he would!"

Willie's hypnotic eye left the trainer's abdomen and traveled slowly to Speed.

"What could happen?" questioned he.

"N-nothing that I know of."

"You don't aim to leave?"

"Certainly not."

"Oh, you fellows take it too seriously," Fresno offered carelessly. "He might have to."

Willie's upper lip drew back, showing his yellow teeth.

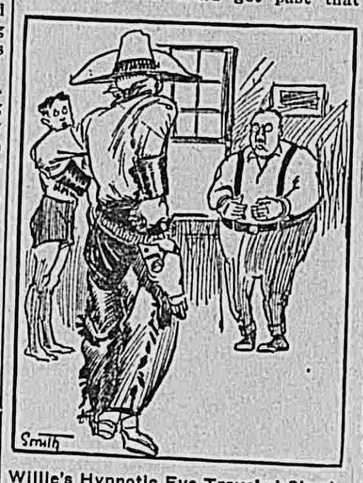

"They don't sell no railroad tickets before Saturday, and the walkin' is bad. There's your breakfast, Mr. Speed. When you've et your fill, you better rest. And don't talk to them ladies, neither; it spoils your train of thought!"

CHAPTER XIV.

NOW that the possibility of escape from the Flying Heart was cut off, the young man felt agonizing regret that he had not yielded to his trainer's earlier importunities and taken refuge in flight while there was yet time. Everything was too late now. Even if he made a clean breast of the whole affair to Jean, or to her brother when he arrived, what good would that do? De doubted Jack's ability to save him, in the light of what had just passed; for men like Willie cared nothing for the orders of the person whose pay roll they chanced to grace. And Willie was not alone, either; the rest of the crew were equally desperate. What heed would these nomads pay to Jack Chapin's commands, once they learned the truth?

There were still, however, two days of grace, and to youth two days is an eternity. Therefore, he closed his eyes and trusted to the unexpected. How the unexpected could get past that grim, watchful sentry just outside the door he could not imagine, but when the breakfast-bell reminded him of his hunger, he banished his fears for the sake of the edibles his custodians had served.

Willie's Hypnotic Eye Traveled Slowly to Speed.

"Don't you want anything to eat?" he inquired, when Larry made no move to depart for the cookhouse.

"No."

"Not hungry, eh?"

"I'm hungry enough to eat a plush cushion, but—"

"What?"

"Mary!"

"Marledetta?"

"Sure. She's been chasin' me again. If somebody don't side track that Cuban, I'll have to lick Carara." He sighed. "I told you we'd ought to tin can it out of here. Now it's too late."

It was perhaps a half-hour later that Helen Blake came tripping into the gymnasium, radiant, sparkling, her crisp white dress touched here and there with blue that matched her eyes, in her hands a sunshade, a novel, and a mysterious little bundle.

"We were so sorry to lose you at breakfast," she began.

Wally led her to the cosey-corner, and seated himself beside her.

"I suppose it is a part of this horrid training. I would never have mentioned that foot race if I had dreamed it would be like this."

Here at least was a soul that sympathized.

"The only hardship is not to see you," he declared softly.

Miss Blake dropped her eyes.

"I thought you might like to go walking; it's a gorgeous morning. You see, I've brought a book to read to you while you rest—you must be tired after your run."

"I am, and I will. This is awfully good of you, Miss Blake." Speed rose, overwhelmed with joy, but the look of Glass was not to be passed up. "I—I'm afraid it's impossible, however."

The blue eyes flew open in astonishment. "Why?" the girl questioned.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Hecatan Tried To.

"Philip," said the teacher, "parse tht sentence, 'Yucatan is a peninsula.'"

"Yes'm," falteringly began Philip, who never could understand grammar any way, "Yucatan is a proper noun, nom'tive case, second person, singular"—

"Why?" asked teacher in amazement, "how do you make that out?"

"Yes'm," said Philip, swallowing hard. "First person I ca tan, second person, Yucatan, third person, Hecatan; plural, first person We atan, second per—"

But right here the teacher fainted.

One Way to Cure Habit of Stuttering.

Recently a well-known woman physician wrote a pamphlet on "Stuttering Children," and sent it to all her friends. In it she told the mothers of all children who are inclined to stutter that the way to aggravate the affliction is to notice it.

"Pay no attention to it," she wrote, "but when the child talks particularly clearly, praise him for it. Keep him in the open air as much as possible. There are only a few cases that must be sent to a school to overcome the stuttering habit."

NEW YORK GREATEST JEWISH CITY

AGED HEBREW SEEKING ADMISSION

FOR centuries it has been the custom of certain old world governments to confine the Jewish population to definite section of the cities where the Jewish population has been large. These Jewish confines have been known as Ghettos. When the exodus of Jews from Russia, from Poland, from Roumania, and Hungary was at its height these old world Hebrews took unto themselves that section of the lower East side of New York which lies east of the Bowery clear down to the East river and in the course of time this district became so wellnigh universally Jewish that the word Ghetto came to be applied to it. It was in reality a veritable Ghetto, comparable to the greatest Ghettos of the old world, only vaster. It is still today a greater city of Jews than the world has ever known. Accustomed through the centuries which have gone to be forcibly confined within a given area, transplanted to the new world, where no such restrictions have ever existed, these people have yet adhered very largely to their traditional habits. Held together not only by the bonds of orthodoxy, but by the scars of ancient political bondage, they have brought with them not only their religion, their racial traits and customs, but the forms of life and habits which their previous existence had imposed upon them. It would seem a misnomer, perhaps, to characterize any section of this wonderful city as "unchanging," but the Ghetto represents more nearly unchanging New York than any other.

Street Merchants.

In the perspective of 30 years, or even 20 years, the lower East side has completely altered. Immigrants from Great Britain and Ireland and from Germany, who at that time practically possessed this section, have departed. Their exodus began with the advent of the Jewish population. Certain streets were, however, retained by these nationalities until very recently, but now even this old guard has given up and the section is altogether Jewish, with a slight fringe of Italians. In other words, the great orthodox Ghetto of ten years ago is the self-same Ghetto today, only more so. Here and there a towering office building has taken the place of a tenement house or a ramshackle business building; certain magnificent schoolhouses, the largest in the world, have been erected, but the drift of life through all the old streets is just the same. Pushcarts line the streets to the inconvenience and demoralization of traffic, whole blocks of them, solid, in certain streets, and on these carts are displayed every conceivable article of necessity to human existence. At the corner of Essex and Hester streets is the same old Jewish labor market, where loiter the workmen waiting to be employed, carpenters with their saws and hammers, locksmiths with their huge rings of keys, plasterers, bricklayers, men of every grade, representatives of every trade, standing hour after hour, and from time to time bargaining, with a prospective employer over the price of their time and their labor. The peanut stands, the old women peddling strings of garlic and bags of onions, the fruit venders and the pickle merchants with their pails of luscious cucumbers, pickled apples and tomatoes, and down under the shadow of the new bridge the fish women, whose wares are exposed to all the dust and dirt and filth that flies through this miserably uncared-for section of the city.

On almost every corner and scattered through many blocks, are the pavement soda water fountains, where soda of many bright hues is dispensed at one and two cents a glass. The doorways are blocked by fat old women, whose chief occupation in life seems to be to sit with folded arms and watch the kaleidoscope of the street. Myriad children swarm under foot, shouting back and forth to each other, sometimes in Yiddish, sometimes in English, usually in sentences of both tongues.

Changing, Yet Changeless.

The very fact that all of this life is so precisely like the life of the East side eight or ten years ago naturally makes one curious to understand what has become of the influence of the public schools, the playground centers, the settlements, and all the other innumerable philanthropic charitable and educational institutions which have been established there for many years. As one walks through the streets there are few, if any, evidences of progress. It is still an orthodox Jewry. Ten years ago thousands upon thousands of boys and girls, young men and young women, were looked upon as "Americans in process." One naturally asks what has become of the Americans or what has happened to the process.

In the answer to this question lies one more of the interesting features of this situation. The lower East side is in the nature of a great human sieve. Here the immigrants come and locate immediately they have landed, for in this Ghetto they find a life in outward semblance similar to the life of the Ghettos they have left in Europe. Every one speaks Yiddish and consequently ignorance of English is no drawback. Jewish customs prevail. The prevailing atmosphere is Jewish. Here they are at home. The schools, the settlements, and the social centers are open to their children, who are never slow to avail themselves of the advantages and opportunities offered them. But as soon as the younger generation has secured ever so slight a foothold, they are seized with the desire to move "up-town," so they go to the Bronx, to East New York or to Brownsville, making place for the more recent arrivals from Europe. Thus it is that the East side while composed of a different population, is still the same; while changing it is still unchanged. The flux of life which continues month after month expels from its borders those who have become slightly Americanized. At the same time, receiving others of the orthodox type who maintain the standard of life and keep unsoiled from the world about them the old-time atmosphere of the Ghetto.

In certain respects the East side of today is a better East side than of ten years ago. For one thing, there is less criminality of a serious character. Formerly young boys, scarcely out of school, took lessons from experienced pickpockets and practiced their trade among the throngs of the East side streets and the Bowery and on various crosstown cars which intersect the Ghetto. But a little time ago an ordinance was passed which made "jostling" in a crowd a misdemeanor and a penal offense. This practically broke the backbone of the pickpocket ring for jostling is essential to the successful operation of pickpocketing on the part of novices. The old-time Fagin no longer exists and the youth of the East side have learned that pocketpicking does not pay. Gambling exists because gambling will always exist in a Jewish population. It is a temperamental and racial trait. Municipal judges inform me that drinking is on the increase among the Jewish population of the East side. This has never been a racial characteristic. Drunkenness, like total abstinence, has heretofore been unknown, or practically so, among this population, but latterly there has been a tendency, especially on the part of the younger generation, toward the consumption of spirituous liquors, which has resulted in a marked increase of drunkenness on the part of the younger Jews.

Uric Acid Is Slow Poison

Excess uric acid left in the blood by weak kidneys, causes more diseases than any other poison.

Among its effects are backache, headache, dizziness, irritability, nervousness, drowsiness, "blues," rheumatic attacks and urinary disorders. Later effects are dropsy, gravel or heart disease.

If you would avoid uric acid troubles, keep your kidneys healthy. To stimulate and strengthen weak kidneys, use Doan's Kidney Pills—the best recommended special kidney remedy.

A Wisconsin Case

Mrs. Jane Smith, 6 Clay St., Menasha, Wis., says: "I could hardly get out of bed. My back ached, my body bloated and my ankles were swollen. I lost 45 pounds in weight. Doctors didn't know what ailed me and couldn't help me. Finally, I took Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me. All the swellings disappeared. Doan's Kidney Pills saved my life."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 50c a Box

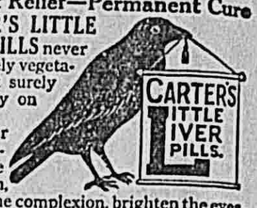

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N.Y.

Constipation Vanishes Forever

Prompt Relief—Permanent Cure

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS never fail. Purely vegetable — act surely but gently on the liver. Stop after dinner distress—cure indigestion, improve the complexion, brighten the eyes.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

The fit pleasures of youth become misfits in after years.

Worms expelled promptly from the human system with Dr. Peery's Vermifuge "Dead Shot." Adv.

The less a man amounts to the larger he shows up in a group photograph.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Rejected.

He—Be mine and you will make me the happiest man in the world.

She—I'm very sorry; but unfortunately I want to be happy myself.

Remarkable.

Frost—Sometimes one runs across his friends in the most unexpected places.

Snow—True. Yesterday I found Agnes at home.

Scorned.

"It's true, Miss Dummer, that I should not have tried to kiss you on such a slight acquaintance and I am heartily sorry. What can I do in palliation of my offense?"

"If you are sincere, Mr. Pinnedd, in what you say, you might betake yourself to some other part of the lawn and leave the coast clear for a man I see approaching who has the reputation of getting what he goes after."

After a Pleasant Evening.

Mr. Sydney Buxton told an amusing story for the purpose of illustrating a point at a recent dinner. A certain convivial soul, who had been invited to dine with a friend, whose house was at the end of a dark and muddy lane, was advised to bring a big lantern. After a very jovial evening the convivial one left and struggled home through the mud, firmly gripping his heavy burden by the handle. Next morning he received this message from his host: "Herewith your lantern; please return parrot and cage."

From

Our Ovens

To

Your Table

Untouched by human hands—

Post Toasties

—the aristocrat of Ready-to-Serve foods.

A table dainty, made of white Indian corn — presenting delicious flavour and wholesome nourishment in new and appetizing form.

The steadily increasing sale of this food speaks volumes in behalf of its excellence.

An order for a package of Post Toasties from your grocer will provide a treat for the whole family.

"The Memory Lingers"

Postum Cereal Company, Limited
Battle Creek, Michigan

NATIONAL CAPITAL AFFAIRS

Plan Public Golf Links at the National Capital

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson's new commissioners for the District of Columbia are planning to provide the national capital with public golf links, and golfers already are wagering that when the new links are available the chief executive will be found playing on them.

At present he gives the two so-called fashionable golf clubs the go-by and motors over the hills of Virginia, where the common folks maintain the Washington Golf club.

The membership of the club is made up mainly of government clerks and other persons who have to look sharp to make both ends meet financially. The democracy of the playground seemed to appeal to the president.

All golfers agree that golf is played for either one or two purposes—exercise or pleasure. If you play a good game, you play for pleasure. If your game is bad, you play for exercise—and you get plenty of it.

Now, the President is not so bad as they make them, by quite a long way, but he still is in the exercise class.

He plays golf for the good it does him and because he never expects to make his living teaching golf to beginners.

He goes out to the club with two automobiles. He is in the front one with Dr. Cary Grayson, while the second carries a secret service man or two.

The president usually reaches the club about 3:30.

He plays the first nine holes very leisurely, without the least sign of having to hurry back to the White House. Then he usually cuts off to the seventeenth, playing that hole and the eighteenth. Then, without going into the club house, he gets into the automobile and rides back to the White House.

With the president, golfing serves as no silk-stocking amusement. He never plays golf with the nabobs of the town. His almost exclusive golfing companion is Dr. Grayson.

Indeed, President Wilson has not devoted himself in the least to making friends in the wealthy.

Indeed, if the president were in pursuit of society, he would not play golf at the Washington Golf club. Society is not found there—not the kind that is spelled with capitals. SOCIETY abides at the Chevy Chase club.

Wanted Senator to Look Up a Prospective Wife

THE other day Senator Knute Nelson was startled by the receipt of a letter which contained the following clipping from a publication called Cupid's Column. His surprise grew as he read the clipping, which was as follows:

"2783 Washington, D. C.—I am a young widow, twenty-five years of age. No children; 5-6, 130 pounds, blonde hair, gray eyes, very good form, good disposition, French Methodist; have a small income; like both city and country life. Would like to correspond with some young man matrimonially inclined. See my photo."

To the right of this touching missive was a picture, also clipped from a newspaper, of a remarkably pretty girl, wearing a low collar and an elaborate pleasure hat.

Being [illegible] years of age and naturally somewhat perplexed as to the [illegible] Senator began to suspect that some practical joker, envious of his eyes on him. But taking another look into the envelope he found a following letter and a photograph of a young man. The letter read:

"I am making your picture after your description," said the note, "in the city of Washington, D. C. I hope you will get it and write to me at once, for I am a young bachelor, and my father owns a farm in Minnesota with a ditch running through it, and I am sure that we will be happy here. I am 5 feet 8 inches——" and much more to that effect. On the back of this was written:

"Dear Senator: This young woman lives in your city. Please look her up for me, as I want to marry her. I put her photograph outside the envelope, but the postoffice authorities returned it to me. If you will look her up and tell her to write me I will be much obliged to you and will remember your kind favor."

All the senator said when he dropped the envelope and its contents into the wastebasket was:

"He wants me to open a matrimonial agency for his special benefit. Now, I'll do any number of things for the people, but I'll be blamed if I will do that."

They Tell McAdoo How to Run U. S. Treasury

THE people who know how to run the United States government better than the men who made it are numerous, and they always have their information on tap. The other day a woman, who is tired of government interference, wrote to Secretary McAdoo as follows:

"Hon. Secty McAdoo.

"Sir: Why don't it for you to persecute the little stocks of Steel and New Haven and Tefun. Only a little I have and now all gone so that I cant make any will to give to my own. My lawyer says it is alright becus Wilson will do it, but he gets my money, and my husband is a striker. My bank says it is was Mr. Taft & Mr. Wickersham, and my Savings Department says it is Wilson & Mr. McAdoo. Respectfully Yours, —— ——"

Another letter which Secretary McAdoo received is even funnier than the foregoing.

"U. S. Gov—t" writes from Fresno, Cal. The letter is dated June 2 and is as follows:

"Mr. McAdee: In regard to all government money Loan none out unless you can get 8 per cent. Have all Apartments Deposit every week in National Treasury money collect that week. Keep everything in first-class shape equipped Treasury Department with a Burglar alarm system if necessary and have for protection four Arm Girds at night. Swear them in to be loyal to the Government, which is 48 States and Island Possessions. Yorn truly,

"Signed in full: U. S. GOV—T."

Under the signature appears the following: "Approved at 5:30 P. M."

The left-hand margin has been utilized for the following postscript: "Loan it on the same terms as bankers do. Good Bye."

This Job Hunter Certainly Was a Good Guesser

A STORY which is going around the lobbies and cloakrooms at the capitol in these days of scant patronage had its origin at the national capital with Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce.

"It happened at a time when there was keen rivalry for government positions," said Secretary Redfield, "that a young man named Allen desired a place in the postoffice department and applied to his congressman. He was told he could get no place until a vacancy arose. He waited for several weeks and one day, when his money was nearly exhausted, he went down to a beach nearby. There were many people bathing there and among them was a man whom Allen recognized as a clerk in the division which he sought for a place.

"This clerk ventured beyond his depth and was drowned. When the body was brought ashore Allen hurried up to his congressman and exclaimed:

"'I can have that job now! There is a vacancy!'

"'Where?' said the congressman.

"'Why, a clerk in that division was drowned this afternoon.'

"The congressman looked at him sadly. 'I regret to inform you,' he said, 'that you are too late; the place has been filled.'

"'How can that be?' shouted Allen. 'The man has just been drowned!'

"'Yes, I know,' answered the congressman, 'but the place was obtained by a Massachusetts man who saw the clerk go in swimming. He made a correct guess that the clerk could not swim and made his application by telephone ten minutes before the clerk's body was brought to shore.'"

FIND BETH-SHEMESH

An Old City Israel Is Brought to Light.

Discovery and Excavation of Ancient Town in Palestine by Dr. Mackenzie and F. G. Newton Add to Knowledge of the Past.

New York.—Day by day fresh light is being thrown upon the past owing to the various excavations in the lands belonging to the long-ago—so long ago that, for centuries, the tales that had been handed down became mythology; until a Schliemann, with spade and book—his "Homer"—believing in these tales with all his heart and soul, began to dig, and proved tradition—History!

When a few fragments of baked clay here are found to correspond in their texture, form and markings with the baked clay there—though seas rolled between them—the tale unfolds; the maker was the same; and by these little bits of pottery the nations and their doings become linked together, until shortly the whole book of the great past will lie open before us. Several leaves have been added to this book during the last two years—leaves, too, with rubricated headings—provided by the discovery and excavation of the city of Beth-shemesh, in Palestine, by Dr. Duncan Mackenzie and Mr. F. G. Newton.

Last year the news was: "The Philistines were Cretans!" First, they traded in oils and perfumes with Egypt and the Holy Land; and after the fall of Knossos, they carried on their trade with Egypt from the Holy Land, where they made the same form of pot and ornamented it with the same design as had been their custom in Crete. This year it is the finding of another "high place" similar to the one found at Gezer by Dr. Macalister. It is not known whether this one at Beth-shemesh belongs to the period of the native Canaanite inhabitants or was one of the "high places" which, we are told, the children of Israel erected in all their cities in the days of King Ahaz, when they turned aside and worshiped the gods of the heathens. And so, day by day, leaf by leaf, the book is being compiled.

The "High Place" of the Children of Israel.

Built at Beth-shemesh and destroyed by Hezekiah. It has lain buried beneath the destroyed city since the Assyrian invasion of B. C. 701.

A mound in the Valley of Sorek, known as Ain Shems, which, from its position on the main road between Jerusalem and the sea, would have formed an important point of defense for the Holy City, was thought to cover the Beth-shemesh of old. There was little indication on the surface of what lay buried beneath. Trial shafts were sunk with satisfactory results, the walls of the city traced and laid bare, and the ashes which covered these walls probably since the Assyrian invasion in the year 701 B. C. have now been forced to give up the secrets they hid; but the city had been completely destroyed by fire on a former occasion—it is thought, in the days of King Ahaz, at the time of the Philistine invasion.—II. Chron. 28:18.

"LOOPS THE LOOP" AGAIN

French Aviator Repeats Performance at Juvisy Before Commission of Army Officers.

Juvisy, France.—Aviator Pegoud, defied the laws of gravitation by looping the loop, gave another exhibition here of the same feat in his Bleriot monoplane.

Before a commission of army officers belonging to the army aviation corps he flew for half a mile with his aeroplane turned upside down and with his head hanging downwards.

M. Bleriot declared the performance was meant to demonstrate that the monoplane will not capsize.

Pegoud ascended to a height of over 3,000 feet and then pointed his machine straight to earth, with his engine going at full speed. He dropped to a height of 1,300 feet and then shot upwards with his machine upside down. He maintained this position for a number of seconds and when he righted the plane he landed safely.

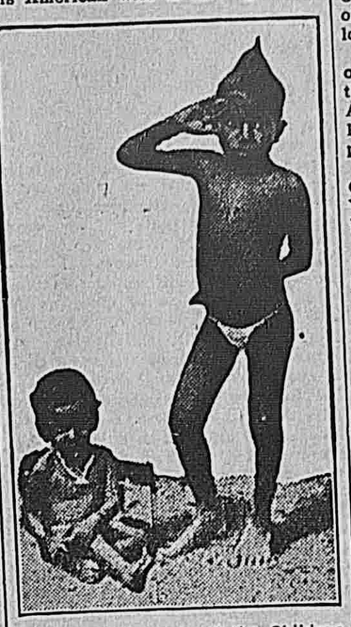

Sea Builds Own Dikes.

London.—Between Happisburgh and Yarmouth the sea has thrown up a defense against itself. Dunes of blown sand protect vast pasture lands that lie below the sea level, and what would happen if the waves broke through during a violent north-east gale the farmer shudders to think.

U. S. MOST WONDERFUL LAND

Resident of Bombay Says He Regards America Most Remarkable Nation on Earth.

Washington.—"India, to Americans the most wonderful country in the world, is not nearly so interesting as the United States," remarked J. B. Rose of Bombay, a practitioner of the new science of chiropracty, who with his American wife is making a tour of this country, and is at the Raleigh.

Full Dress Costume of the Children of Mr. Rose's Home Land.

"Many Americans have told me that they enjoyed India more than any other country," he continued. "I cannot understand it, for I look upon this country as the most remarkable nation on earth. If I were to select a place to live, I should pick Washington as the most delightful city. It is far more beautiful, cleaner, and more interesting than any city I have visited in this country; and as for Europe, there is no city that can compare with it. Bombay and Calcutta, the two principal cities of India, are exceedingly interesting and curious, I have no doubt. I was born in Bombay. My father was a Hindu and my mother an American of Scotch-Irish parentage. When I was a boy I went among the sick and I found that I was deeply interested. I studied the science of chiropracty and have practiced it for several years. There are very few chiropractists in the United States. In India the science is growing rapidly in popularity. It is an advanced form of osteopathy, and it is claimed that many diseases can be permanently cured by it. It is a simple method of adjusting the spine, which as we know, is the seat of the nervous system.

"Calcutta is the most modern city in India," added Doctor Rose. "It has skyscrapers, improved streets, sewerage, public utilities, including tramcars, electric lights, and telephones, and while the climate is exceedingly hot, it is invariably tempered by daily rainfalls. Our hotels are not so modern, perhaps, as the best hotels of your principal cities, but life is pleasant in the cities of India.

"Mohammedanism, perhaps, received a severe blow when the war against Turkey in Europe drove the religion out of Europe," concluded Doctor Rose. "I am a Mohammedan, and nothing could ever persuade me to change my religion, but I am forced to the belief that the victory over the Turks will in all probability lead to many of them changing their faith. Mohammedanism, however, will flourish as long as the world lasts."

SPOILS OF ATHENS FROM SEA

Ancient Treasures of Fabulous Value Found on Ship Off Tunis—Cargo of Sculpture.

London.—Sunken art treasures of fabulous value have just been recovered from the wreck of a ship off Madhia on the Tunisian coast.

Tunisian ships sent to investigate the report of Greek sponge fishers found a sunken vessel of about 400 tons, 100 feet long and 25 broad. She was laden with an extraordinary cargo, consisting of blocks of marble, bases and capitals for columns, effigies, statues, furniture, tiles, leaden piping, lamps, amphorae, etc.

Among the fragments were found figures of a demigod and a maiden and faun, which correspond almost exactly with the Borghese vase dug up in Rome and now in the Louvre. A Hermes of Dionysos bears the signature "Boethos," the sculptor of the celebrated "Child With a Goose" of the second century B. C.

In the bottom of the hold the treasure seekers found about 60 columns of bluish-white marble 13 feet high. All the inscriptions deciphered relate to Attica and personages of the middle fourth century B. C.

Some writing on lead ingots also is in the Latin of that epoch and experts have concluded that the vessel was loaded in Attica for Rome and probably the cargo was the spoil after the taking of Athens by Sulla in 86 B. C.

Deprive Town of Water.

Denver.—In an effort to kill off the new town of Hamoun, where the sale of liquor is permitted, prohibitionists of Colorado Springs cut off Ramona's water supply, it is alleged. An investigation is under way.

PRETTY NAMES FOR BOOKS

Real Old-Time Titles Sound Decidedly Strange to the Eye of the Reader Today.

The following are some of the curious titles of old English books:

"A Most Delectable Sweet Perfumed Nosegay for God's Saints to Smell At."

"Biscuit Baked in the Oven of Charity. Carefully Conserved for the Chickens of the Church, the Sparrows of the Spirit, and the Sweet Swallows of Salvation."

"A Sigh of Sorrow for the Sinners of Zion Breathed Out of a Hole in the Wall of an Earthly Vessel Known Among Men by the Name of Samuel Fish" (a Quaker who had been imprisoned).

"Eggs of Charity Layed for the Chickens of the Covenant and Boiled With the Water of Divine Love. Take Ye Out and Eat."

"The Spiritual Mustard Pot to Make the Soul Sneeze With Devotion."

Most of these were published in the time of Cromwell.—London Strand.

ARE YOU CONSTIPATED?

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills have proved their worth for 75 years. Test them yourself now. Send for sample to 372 Pearl St., New York. Adv.

Had His Goat Evidently.

A Springfield man, replying to his wife's petition for divorce, says: "Defendant states that the plaintiff is much better qualified than the defendant to carry her part in nagging contests; that she commands a better and more extensive vocabulary than the defendant, and simply overwhelmed him with her complaints and reproaches, and she was so master of her feelings that she could readily pass from storm to sunshine, from abuse to tears, from harsh language to tenderness, and from nagging plaintiff could upon the appearance of a third person so readily become all smiles and suavity that her sudden and complete changes of moods completely bewildered defendant."—Kansas City Star.

Use Roman Eye Balsam for scalding sensation in eyes and inflammation of eyes or eyelids. Adv.

Cautious.

It was the last day of his vacation. He had just finished carving her name on the smooth bark of the beech tree.

"Dear," he said, "will you promise to wait for me till I come again next summer?"

She looked up at him with the dove light in her eyes. "Yes, Henry," she murmured.

"Then I'll cut my initials beside yours."

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Distinction.

"Who is that military-looking chap?"

"That, sir, is the hero of a rumored war."—Puck.

WOMAN FEELS 10 YEARS YOUNGER

Since Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Louisville, Ky.—"I take great pleasure in writing to inform you of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was weak, nervous, and cared for nothing but sleep. Now I can go ahead with my work daily and feel ten years younger than before I started taking your medicine. I will advise any woman to consult with you before going to a doctor."—Mrs. INIZE WILLIS, 2229 Bank St., Louisville, Ky.

Another Sufferer Relieved.

Romayor, Texas.—"I suffered terribly with a displacement and bladder trouble. I was in misery all the time and could not walk any distance. I thought I never could be cured, but my mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I did.

"I am cured of the displacement and the bladder trouble is relieved. I think the Compound is the finest medicine on earth for suffering women."—Mrs. VIOLA JASPER, Romayor, Texas.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The Elastine Gores in the W.B.

Elastine-Reduso CORSETS

make them the most comfortable corsets for the stout figure.

Guaranteed to reduce hips and abdomen one to five inches.

786, low bust; coutil and batiste. Price $3
789, med. bust " " " Price $3

W. B. NUFORM CORSETS

Low bust—extreme length over hips; giving long figure lines, selected materials daintily trimmed. Guaranteed not to rust. Price $1.00 UP

Style 48, Medium bust, long hips and back, $1.50
Style 52, Medium high bust, long hips, $1.00
Sizes 21 to 36 - - - - - $1.25

If your dealer cannot supply you, send size, style and price to us and we will see you are supplied. Catalogue free.

WEINGARTEN BROTHERS, Chicago, Ill.

The Up-to-Date Lighting System for Country Homes

The Improved Jenne Pit Acetylene Generator

Installed in the ground and covered over like a cistern. Far removed from the building. Fool-Proof, Frost-Proof, Safe and Convenient. Permitted by The National Board of Fire Underwriters. Guaranteed absolutely. The best lighting system on earth for the least money. Hundreds of farmers have become agents after installing our generator in their homes. Write for our special inducements to the first purchaser in each locality. Protected by patents. Infringers liable to prosecution. Full particulars for the asking.

The Jenne Acetylene Gas Machine Co., Meridian Life Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

WINCHESTER

REPEATING SHOTGUNS.

Winchester Repeating Shotguns are not only safe to shoot, but sure to shoot. They are easy to load or unload, easy to take down or put together, and strong and reliable in every way. That's why the U. S. Ordnance Board endorsed them as being safe, sure, strong and simple. Over 450,000 satisfied sportsmen are using them.

Stick to a Winchester and You Won't Get Stuck

Winchester Guns and Winchester Ammunition—the Red W Brand—are Made for Each Other and Sold Everywhere

W. L. DOUGLAS

$3.00 $3.50 $4.00 $4.50 AND $5.00

SHOES FOR MEN AND WOMEN

BEST BOYS SHOES in the WORLD $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00.

The largest makers of Men's $3.50 and $4.00 shoes in the world.

Ask your dealer to show you W. L. Douglas $3.50, $4.00 and $4.50 shoes. Just as good in style, fit and wear as other makes costing $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. Shoes in all leathers, styles and shapes to suit everybody. If you could visit W. L. Douglas large factories at Brockton, Mass., and see for yourself how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they are warranted to fit better, look better, hold their shape and wear longer than any other make for the price.

If W. L. Douglas shoes are not for sale in your vicinity, order direct from the factory and save the middleman's profit. Shoes for every member of the family, at all prices, by Parcel Post, prepaid free. Write for Illustrated Catalog. It will show you how to order by mail, and why you can save money on your footwear.

W. L. DOUGLAS - - Brockton, Mass.

MEN'S BULL-TROG · MEN'S GOTHAM · BOYS' ORTHOPEDIC · WOMEN'S COUNTESS · WOMEN'S PARIS · WOMEN'S CRITERION

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE

CAUTION See that W. L. Douglas name is stamped on the bottom.

THE ANTIOCH NEWS

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY

A. B. JOHNSON, Editor and Prop.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:
One copy, one year, in advance, $1.00

Advertising Rates Will be Furnished Upon Application

Telephone Antioch 581

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER, 25 1913

STANDING OF CONTESTANTS AT THE CITY SHOE STORE

Standing of the contestants for the piano, sewing machine, gold watch and toilet set for the week ending, September 17, is as follows:

Contestant's Number.	votes
1	5100	92	2700
2	4000	93	3200
3	5000	94	5545
4	3000	95	4585
5	5000	96	3250
6	5000	97	3500
7	3450	98	3000
8	6000	99	3975
9	4000	100	3150
10	4635	101	3300
11	6685	102	4000
12	3000	103	4000
13	3000	104	3850
14	5000
15	3000	105	3500
16	4000	106	3700
17	3500	107	3650
18	5235	108	3750
19	4000	109	4000
20	5000	110	3900
21	3250	111	3650
22	4550	112	3350
23	4000	113	3275
24	4900	114	3850
25	3000	115	4450
26	3500	116	3350
27	3345	117	3690
28	5000	118	3890
29	4000	119	3750
30	11635	120	3700
31	3000	121	3000
32	3200	122	3000
33	4000	129	3200
34	3500	124	3170
35	4000	125	3000
36	5000	126	3200
37	4250	127	3000
38	3000	128	3650
39	4200	129	3000
40	3850	130	3000
41	4000	131	3000
42	4390	132	3500
43	3000	133	3250
44	3500	134	3750
45	3600	135	3020
46	6900	136	3000
47	5000	137	6735
48	4500	138	3650
49	3850	139	3960
50	2000	140	3000
51	4500	141	3350
52	4250	142	3250
53	3850	143	3000
54	4000	144	3000
55	5000	145	3650
56	4250	146	3250
57	3850	147	3000
58	4000	148	3200
59	5000	149	3650
60	7200	150	3250
61	3750	151	3350
62	3000	152	2850
63	3000	153	3000
64	2000	154	3350
65	3350	155	3000
66	6055	156	3000
67	3000	157	3150
68	3000	158	3000
69	2780	159	3000
70	2700	160	3375
71	3000	161	2000
72	3000	162	3000
73	2000	163	3175
74	3000	164	2000
75	2800	165	3000
76	4000	166	3000
77	2900	167	5110
78	2700	168	12135
79	2600	169	3000
80	2500	170	3000
81	2300	171	3200
82	2200	172	3350
83	2100	173	3350
84	2700	174	4185
85	4910	175	3000
86	2700	176	3350
87	2500	177	3350
88	2400	178	3250
89	2300	179	3745
90	2785	180	4310
91	2600	181	5000

Joy in Doing Good Work.

The recipe for self-confidence is: Do good work. "Courage," says Emerson, "comes from having done the thing before." A man who does good work does not have to talk, apologize or explain—his work speaks. And even though there be no one to appreciate it, the man feels in it a great, quiet joy. He relaxes, smiles, rests, fully intent on taking up his labors tomorrow and doing better than ever.

Social Good in All These.

There is a great deal of social good to be done in putting down gossip, in preventing misunderstandings, and in keeping friends with everybody.—Jowett.

All of It.

Nurse (to young doctor)—Your practice is waiting, sir? Shall I show him in?

AGAINST BIRDS ON HATS

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

The coffee had been unusually good that morning and as Henry Sparks rose from the breakfast table preparatory to lighting his cigar and starting for the office he said to his wife: "Eliza, you may have the fall hat you've been yearning for. Here's the ten dollars, but please, in making your purchase remember my prejudice against birds in bonnets."

Eliza beamed. "All right, Henry," she said; "I'll go straight down to Mme. Capote's this morning. I can get a beauty for ten dollars, I know, and I won't have a single song bird on it."

That night after dinner Mrs. Sparks sent the maid of all work into the front bedroom to bring a box that arrived shortly before from Mme. Capote's. Mrs. Sparks opened the box, lifted the wonderful creation and said the usual womanly thing: "Isn't it a dream?"

Henry Sparks looked at the hat quizzically. There was not perhaps expressed in his face the admiration and entire approval that Mrs. Sparks had hoped for.

"Henry," she said, "I know there is a bird's head or two and a lot of feathers in it, but Mme. Capote told me that they were all made-up things, mostly barnyard fowls. This head with the slate-blue neck and just a touch of brown at the place where it was separated from the breast, was the head of a common domestic fowl in China. Now don't look that way. Everybody is wearing feathers, and I don't see why I shouldn't wear them."

Henry Sparks rose from the table and took the befeathered hat out of his wife's hand and looked at it through his glasses. "This," he said, pointing with his finger at the bird's head with beautiful steel blue feathers, "is, as I understand Mme. Capote, the head of a common Chinese domestic fowl. Eliza, when you wander along by some tumbling stream in the springtime you will hear now and then a rattling cry. It is a bird's voice. It is as much a part of the time and place and of the wildness of it all as are the trees, the stream or even the April clouds overhead. Wander along the same stream in the heat of summer and you hear the same rattling cry. A bird form dashes by, then stops in midflight and hovers lightly over a pool beneath. Then there is a sound of the plash of waters as a feathered form descends and plunges. There is a sensation of coolness in the sound of that plunge that tempers the heat of the August day to the wayfarer. Perhaps you have a legal right to wear this bird because it may have been killed in New York, where the wise legislators withdrew from this creature the protection of the law. The men who urged that it be exempt from protection were men of the kind who go into the northern woods and drag seines, dynamite streams and catch and kill thousands of fish that they may pick out the big ones for the market. The souls of these men are in their pockets. This bird catches a few small fish for the sustenance of itself and its young. It adds, when not on a bonnet, a living interest to every waterside. Eliza, your Chinese domestic fowl is an American kingfisher.

"Henry, Mme.—"

"Eliza, this bird that has been eating up the crops in India, thus causing a famine in that country, was hatched in a nest in an Illinois tree. Perhaps you have the legal right to wear it. The wise legislators of Illinois recently added this bird to the game list, so that it may be slaughtered and made into pies. The souls of the legislators were situated in their stomachs. This bird has stood as an emblem of peace since the world was, and yet every pot and millinery hunter in the land makes war upon it. You are a good Episcopalian and you sometimes tell me that there is nothing more beautiful than all that pertains to the church and its teachings. Do you, Trinitarian that you are, know that it was in the living form of one of these murdered innocents in your bonnet that the Holy Spirit descended upon our Savior as he stood at the side of the Baptist by the waters of Jordan? Eliza, this East Indian crop-destroying, starvation-producing bird, is an Illinois mourning dove.

"Doubtless Mme. Capote told you that this little bunch of feathers that clasps the upturned brim of the hat came from a bird harpy of some remote region whose daily practice it is to carry off and devour the sweet babes of doting mothers. Well, these cinnamon-brown feathers with these soft gray dotted with darker color represent all that is left of a hermit thrush, a bird that sings its seraphic song in the twilight northern wilderness. It is the note of this bird that Burroughs says suggests a serene religious beatitude."

"But, Henry, Mme. Capote said—"

"Eliza, there are a thousand Mme. Capotes, and most of them are li—"

But Mrs. Sparks was in tears.

Berlin's Palaces.

Berlin owes its palaces and many of its finest buildings to Frederick William I. That monarch had a passion for building, and transmitted it to others. Whenever he heard of a rich merchant settling in the capital he ordered him to build a residence in keeping with his wealth. If the merchant obeyed he was duly rewarded and many German families owe their title of nobility to an ancestor having built a fine house.

Their Handicap in Life.

Have you ever noticed that some follow the rules of prejudice so close that it looks as if they were under contract with progress not to compete with it?

Names Connected With the Law.

The original bearer of the name of Legles was so called merely because he was a lawyer. Originally, the name was spelled Laegless, the expression signifying "learned in the law." Strangely enough Lawless is derived from exactly the same source, and signifies exactly opposite to its apparent meaning.

Sleep of Plants.

Stahl, a German botanist who gave his attention to the attitude of the leaves of plants during the day as compared with their attitude in the night, noted that many plants take such a position for the night that their leaves can transpire easily and at the same time be sheltered from the dew.

Most of Them Do.

"So a genealogist is looking up that politician's family tree." "I dare say the kind his patron would prefer would be a plum tree."—Baltimore American.

Definition of Joke.

Joke—Something a woman takes seriously.—Smart Set.

Swedish Employment Bureau.

The Swedish government operates public employment bureaus. Their services are free of charge.

Daily Reminder.

Often "cold feet" is the better judgment peculiarly manifesting itself.

Plays Favorites.

Opportunity knocks once at every man's door, and even follows some men out to the ball park.

DEAR MR. CUSTOMER:—

Don't be weak on the price proposition, it's really a secondary consideration.

"Quality is remembered long after price is forgotten"

A growth based on honest endeavor to give quality, to emphasize the good, to avoid error, is permanent and carries within itself an impetus for continual advancement.

We handle the very best material on the market, and our prices are based upon the Quality of the article.

PLUMBING & HEATING, a specialty.

Strictly sanitary plumbing (Guaranteed) whether your water supply is from city or otherwise.

Prices and Estimates given on the following

Hot water, steam, warm air fuarnce heating, acetylene and gasoline gas piping and fixtures, pneumatic water supply systems, gasoline and kerosene engines, pumps and well supplies, pipe and fittings. galvanized iron cornices, eaves troughs and gutter, builders hardware, stoves and ranges, gasoline and kerosene stoves. fishing tackle, American wire field fencings, guns and ammunition, National copper cable lightning rods and General Repairing

Ask for our HOME TRADE PRICE MAKER CATALOGUE

Illustrating and Quoting Exceptionally low prices, on

MERCHANDISE OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

Williams Bros. Antioch Store Inc. Established 1871

Phones—Long Distance and Farmers Line

Come and . . .

See what we have to offer you in the shoe line on

WEDNESDAY, OCT. .FIRST

Our table will be full of Bargains in ladies' gunmetal and vici shoes, also Children's gunmetal school shoes 500 VOTES With every dollars worth. Always call for votes.

The contest is now growing. Get in line as you all have a chance to win

Remember the date WED., OCT., 1st., and boast your number as that is registration day bring in your votes

The City Shoe Store

J. R. CRIBB, Prop. Antioch, Ill.

The Burligton Furniture Co.

J. MANNASON, Manager

. . . NOTICE . . .

House cleaning time is here now. While looking over your old furniture you will surely find an old chair or longue that you wished to get fixed up. Let John Mannason, the practical upholster give you an estimate on your work. The work will be guaranteed and the prices most reasonable. Prompt attention will be given all orders. We also wish to call your attention that we have a good clean line of furniture and that we are closing out at sacrifice prices. Give us a call and be convinced. Phone 318 or drop us a card.

Leave Orders at This Office

The Coffee You Want at the Price You Want To Pay

Mex-O-Ja is an unique blend of our selection of berries from the world-famous coffee growing countries of Sao Paulo and the mountain districts of Mexico.

Pronounced MEX-O-HA

It makes a full, rich drink — positively unmatchable at the price.

Its purity and quality assure a satisfying, wholesome drink.

Mex-O-Ja is delivered to you by the grocer in a carton bearing broad green and red stripes. Each carton contains a full pound of coffee—net weight.

The Price May Change —the Quality Never

Price subject to revision according to the cost of raw material. 30 Cents Per Pound

ARBUCKLE BROS. Mex-O-Ja Sales Dept. 465-465 East Illinois Street Chicago, Ill.

To get Best Results Grind your Coffee at Home

Build a Rat Proof Corn Crib

Rats cost the nation $85,000,000 per. year. Much of this loss is at the expense of the farmers' corn. Concrete Construction is the perfect cure.

The owner and one man built the corn crib pictured at the left, using

"Chicago AA" Portland Cement

Farmers the country over prefer the "Chicago AA" brand for their concrete work. They have found it always the same grade—always uniform—always results in satisfaction. Stop in for a

Free Booklet telling how to build a corn crib. Or if you prefer, write Chicago Portland Cement Co., 30 N. La Salle Street, Chicago, for a copy.

GOODRICH LUMBER CO.

The insect orchestra of the fields and gardens is not so energetic, for the little fiders are putting away their intruments. Their feathered watchers, most of all interested in them, are preparing to flit. That unsurpassable, invisible paintbrush is at work again on the leaves and the corn sticks and the pumpkins, and have you noticed there's a tang in the air occasionally?

Time goes, you say? Ah no.
Alas, time stays we go.

Nature is moving is her majestic way into another cycle; Autumn in here, and

Your Electric Light Bills Will Go Up

The long summer evenings on the perch are about ended. The various members of the family are home from their vacations. Twilight comes earlier. School has opened and the papooses have got to study at night. You'll spend more time indoors, sit longer at dinner, stay up reading longer, have more evening gatherings, more afternoon occasions.

Don't Go to Work and Blame the meter

The simple fact is the lighting hours are growing longer and will proceed in that ratio, until the date when the good old sun again begins to get out of bed earlier and stay up later. You'll burn more current. It happens every year.

You'll find new pleasures and new satisfaction in the use of electric light. The housewife who saw drudgery disappear when electric labor saving appliances come in, will appreciate them more than ever in the winter.

There's advice that timely—it suggests itself

Don't waste the current Snap it off when it's not needed

Public Service Company OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS

LOCAL ITEMS

Local Announcement and the Elgin Butter Market.

ELGIN, ILL., Sept. 22—The committee declared butter at 31c.

Ask for piano certificates at the City Shoe Store. adv

Fall underwear--all sized at Chase Webb's. adv

Harry Tiffany was in Burlington on Wednesday.

A. Chase Stevens of Virginia, Minn., spent Sunday with Antioch relatives.

Chas. Darby returned Sunday from a week's visit with friends at Ingleside.

On and after Friday, Sept. 19, I will make cider on the Proctor Farm. W. J. Chinn. 2tf adv

Mrs. Harlow Barber, who has been quite sick is now able to be up and around the house.

Coal orders left at Webb's Racket Store will have our prompt attention. H. R. Adams & Co. adv

Mrs B. F. Naber and daughter Helen and Miss Florence Brogan were Waukegan callers Tuesday.

A killing frost visited this section Sunday night doing much damage to corn and garden products.

The East Fox Lake cemetery society will meet at the school house, Sept. 27, for a picnic supper. Mrs. Barnstable.

Miss Eva Felter returned on Wednesday evening from Chetek, Wis., where she has been visiting for the past two weeks.

For Sale—A two cylender Roadster in good condition, with top and lights. Bargain at $200. Inquire of T. J. Buckley, Loon Lake. 2w adv

Lost—A long-haired goat robe, on Antioch-Richmond road near Antioch, on Sunday, Sept. 21. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning same to this office.

Last Sunday the Antioch Juniors and the Pikeville Juniors crossed bats at Pikeville, the score being 17 to 15 in favor of Antioch. A return game will be played at Antioch next Sunday.

Agents Wanted—Highest cash weekly and part expenses. Outfit free. Home territory. Experience unnecessary. Our contract the fairest ever written. Under our plan you can make $20 per week and up, over and above [illegible], often [illegible] in length, possibly, Wauwatosa as large as pewaukee, or, any county towns indicate that because of the large acreage of onions there promises to be a record yield this season. In some places the yield is 1,000 bushels to the acre. The cabbage crop throughout the whole county will be far below that of five years past.

R. D. Emmons up the present time holds the championship of the village for the raising of large peaches. While the quantity was not exceptionally large the quality was in no way lacking and the size was all that could be desired. One of the peaches measured 9½ inches one way and 10½ the other.

Things to Try About.
There are 239,071 male stenographers in the United States.

His Greatest Take.
The man who wears all the best of every bargain chance himself of future opportunities.

Daily Reader.
Immodesty, in itself, wouldn't be so bad, if, in addition it wasn't always making a fool of itself generally.

L. J. SLOCUM, BRISTOL, WIS. PUBLIC ACTIONEER

Have had quite a little experience and can give honest service to all who may employ me. Harvest of reference and satisfaction guaranteed.

Call up or write for dates
Also dealer in Real Estate—Farm and city property for sale or exchange in most every state. L. J. Solcum.
Bristol, Wisconsin.

Ask for piano certificates at the City Shoe Store. adv

New sweater coats for men and boys at Webb's. adv

Best $2.25 work shoes at Webb's. adv

J. H. Goodrich transacted business at Delevan, Wis., Monday.

Miss Gertrude Felter spent the latter part of last week in Chicago.

George Lewis is spending his vacation with relatives at Chippewa Falls, Wis.

Mrs. Frank Dien of Chicago has rented the Chas. Blunt house on Victoria street.

Mrs. Ira Cribb of Plainfield, Ill., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Sabin.

Mrs. Adeline Clark left Wednesday for a two weeks visit with relatives at Elgin and Leaf River, Ill.

Mrs. Cubbon and son Herman left Wednesday for Chetek, Wis., where they will spend some time with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Moldenhauser returned to her home at Port Edwards, Wis., on last Thursday after a few days visit with Mrs. Wienke.

On the morning of September 23rd the thermometer registered 29 degrees and 83 at noon on the 24th. A change of 54 degree.

Mrs. Wienke and daughter, Alice left Wednesday for a few days visit with former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kasten at Genoa Junction.

The Ladies Aid society will hold their regular meeting in the basement of the church, Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 1. Supper served. Everybody invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Thayer will leave on Friday for Chetek, Wis., and while they are absent Homer Hendee contemplates a trip to New York state.

The Epworth League will have a Missionary Tea in the basement of the church Friday evening, Sept. 26. Supper, games and a good time assured. A free will offering will be taken.

Announcement cards have been received here of the marriage of Bruce McNamer, formerly of this village to Miss Lucie Whetstone, at Franklin, Montana, after Nov. 1st.

Adjudication Notice.

Public notice is hereby given that the subscr[iber], executor of the last will and testament of [Sa]rah Hucker deceased, will attend the Co[unty] Court of Lake County, at a term thereof to be holden at the Court House in Waukegan, in [said] County, on the first Monday of December [next], 1913, when and where all persons having claims against said estate are notified and [requ]ested to present the same to said Court for adjudication.

WILLIAM F. ZIEGLER.
Executor,

Waukegan, Illinois, September 22, 1913.
E. Runyard, Attorney.

Day of the Matriarchal System.
"Wanted—Woman to take charge of lodging house; man and wife preferred." Thus vanishes the last [rem]nant of mere man.—New York Tribune.

Easily Reunited.
Every time a girl's heart is broken she sees the pieces.

Speed of the Under Dog.
The under dog wants no sympathy; what he wants is assistance.

Daily Special.
Many Can Bluff, But Few Can Make Good.

Author Mrs. Malaprop.
"No, she wouldn't listen to reason," said Mrs. Twickembury. "She was in a most indicative mood."—Christian Register.

Had the Goods.
"I am seeking the light," announced the Pilgrim. "Well," replied the drug-store clerk, "we carry antifat and peroxide."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

No Charge for This.
Young persons should reflect that everything which is blind and which laughs at locksmiths is not love.—Puck.

Greater Conqueror.
Though a man conquer a thousand thousand men in battle, a greater conqueror still is he who conquers himself.—Buddha.

Cheap Labor in Trinidad.
Labor is so cheap in Trinidad that it does not pay to buy lawn mowers, as coolies will cut the grass with a small sickle or knife at a trifling cost.

Long Life in One House.
Eighty-six years in one house, Mrs. Hannah Moore, ninety years of age, who died at Erderly, Leicestershire, England, the other day certainly never spent much on "moving."

With His Blushing Honors Thick.
When a man gets his first nomination for office he imagines that "Hail to the Chief" is a brand new tune dedicated to him.

Proves Might of Pen.
A pen nib is a little thing, yet there is more steel used in the manufacture of nibs than in all the sword and gun factories in the world. A ton of steel produces about 1,500,000 pens.

M. E. CHURCH NOTES

SUNDAY SERVICES

10:30 a. m. Preaching service.
11:45 a. m. Sunday School.
6:30 p. m. Epworth League devotional service.
7:30 p. m. Song and Preaching service.
7:30 p. m. Wednesday Prayer Meeting.

Next Sunday, Sept. 28, is the last of this conference year. The pastor will go to conference at Freeport next Tuesday. It is my desire and expectation to be returned to Antioch for another year, still I am under the authority of the Bishop and maybe sent elsewhere, in which event the services next Sunday will be the last I shall conduct here. At any rate I cordially invite everybody to come out to next Sunday's services. In the morning communion service and sermon by the pastor on, "In Remembrance of Jesus." At 7:30 p. m. song and preaching service.

Will all who have subscribed to the church kindly pay this week, unless all the subscriptions are paid in, the pastor's salary cannot be paid in full. We are very anxious to close this year without debt to anyone. You need this Protestant church and Sunday school in Antioch and the church needs your financial as well as moral support. Mr. Ziegler is the church treasurer.

One week from Sunday will be Conference Sunday, no preaching morning or evening but Sunday School will be held at 11 o'clock a. m. and Epworth League service at 7 p. m. in the main auditorium.

Don't forget the Missionary Tea by the Epworth League at the church tomorrow (Friday) evening. Refreshments, games and a good time assured. Free will offering for the benefit of the missionary cause.

A. O. Stixrud.

Notice for Bids

Notice for Bids—The Board of Highway Commissioners of the Town of Lake Villa will receive bids up to 8 o'clock p. m. on October 4th, for the construction of a reinforced concrete bridge in in the Town of Lake Villa in Section 7, Twp. 45, at what is known as the Wm. Craine Farm. Clear span of bridge is 12 feet and the width is 22 feet.

Plans and specifications can be had at the office of Town Clerk, Dr. C. W. Talbott.

The right to reject any or all bids is hereby reserved by

James J. Barnstable,
George McCredie,
Frank M. Hamlin,
Commissioners of Highways.
Town of Lake Villa.

FOR SALE

A well bred Holstein bull coming three years old. A sure breeder and of good quite dispositon. 6½ miles east of Antioch on the John Stewart farm.

Geo. A. Thompson, Prop. adv 14

Find Right Thing to Do.
There are many failures because there are many persons trying to do the wrong things. We have no right to repine at a limit until we are sure that we have touched it. In reality, there is always enough for each to do, to accomplish, a plot of land for each to till; the narrowest capacity has something, and that something is enough, satisfyingly and usefully, to fill a lifetime.

Extreme of Industriousness.
"Loafin," said Uncle Eben, "is sumfin' to be discouraged. But whut is you g'ineter do wif de man dat is so industrious dat he'd rather be in trouble dan doin' nuffin'?"

Copper Sulphate to Destroy Bacilli.
A method involving the use of copper sulphate has been perfected in Surinam for destroying bacilli which injure tobacco plants through the twigs.

Another Way to Prolong Life.
The statement has been made that life would be prolonged if persons would acquire the habit of stooping by the hips, instead of bending the backbone.

Petrel.
The small sea fowl called petrel was so named because when flying its feet frequently brush the water, which suggested the walking of Peter on the water.

SIX DEFENDENTS IN THE $100000 SUIT ARE SUBPOENAED

Saturday E. J. Green, sheriff of Lake county subpoened the six women defendants in the sensational $100,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Minnie Richardson—the woman who claims she was ridden on a rail, ordering them to appear for trial during the October term of court. They were ordered to appear at the court house the opening day of court. The six women subpoened;—Mr. Emma Stodtfield, Mrs. John Stodtfield, Alma Walton, Mrs. Raymond, Mrs. Wagner and Mrs. Sabel.

"It is to laugh" said one of the six women when Sheriff Green read the subpoena to her Saturday morning. She claimed she was at her home when the rail ride episode took place.

It is not expected that this case will be called for trial during the October term. It is customary to grant one continuance in such cases, and it is believed that this case will be put of until the December term of court.

Although State's Attorney Dady has a complete list of the men, women and children who he intends to subpoena to testify before the grand jury, has not given the required subpoenaes to the sheriff at this time.

These subpoenaes will be issued and served this week.

CONVENTION OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS TO BE HELD SOON

The Lake County Annual Sunday School convention will be held at Wauconda, Oct. 28 and 29. President of the county F. W. Cook, together with Rev. McGinnis, L. J. Yager, vice president, Judge Barnes and Henry Kuebker, secretary met at the home of Francis D. Everett at Highland Park, to make plans for the event.

An extensive program has been prepared, one that is expected to eclipse all others in attractiveness and quality. Several noted Sunday school workers throughout the state have been secured among them Hugh Cork, general secretary of Illinois. Prof. Rice of the Baptist church, Waukegan, will direct the music.

Reports will be read from all the township conventions held throughout the county. The Shields township convention will be held Oct. 5. The officials are waiting until all the township conventions are over with, before they go too far in the plans for a county one.

Bachelors and Matrons.
A dilettante told me yesterday: "I prefer black and white sketches by a clever artist to his finished paintings. They leave more to my imagination—which is a better traveler than any painter's brush." For the same reason, the bachelor interests matrons more than married men do. He, too, is unfinished; and every woman likes to imagine what she might have made of him—or what she may.—Rene Laidlaw in Smart Set.

Fortunate One.
"So she's going to be married? Who's the lucky man?" "The man she threw over for this one."—New York World.

Daily Thought.
More helpful than all wisdom is our draught of simple human pity, that will not forsake us.—George Eliot.

Financial Item.
Short Jenks always looks the most important when he is reading the market page. Still, the only thing he owns is a wash-tub, which his wife operates—Atchison Globe.

L. G. STRANG
Licensed Embalmer and Funeral Directors
ANTIOCH, - - - ILLINOIS
Phone 311
Also Farmer's Line

INGALLS BROS.
WAUKEGAN
OPTOMETRISTS
Graduates of McCormick OPTICAL COLLEGE

EYES TESTED GLASSES FITTED ARTIFICIAL EYES

E. G. THOM, D. V. M.
Veterinary Suregon & Dentist
Phone Bristol 327
Bristol, - Wisconsin

BANK OF ANTIOCH
EDWARD BROOK
BANKER
Buy and Sell Exchange and do a General Banking Business

J. C. JAMES, JR.
UNDERTAKER
LICENSED EMBALMER
Licensed by the State Board of Health

SEQUOIT LODGE No. 827, A. F. & A. M., hold regular communications the first and third Wednesday evenings of every month. Visiting Brethern always welcome.
FRANK HUBER, Sec'y
ELMER BROOK, W. M.

The Eastern Star meets second and fourth Thursdays of each month.
Dora Sabin, W. M.
IDA OSMOND, Sec'y

J. C. James, Jr.
Justice of the Peace and Notary Public
Real Estate
Both Farm and Lake Property
Fire Insurance Agent for Several Good Companies
Accident, and Life Insurance, Reasonable Rates and Good Companies
J. C. James, Jr., Antioch, Ill.

Lotus Camp No. 557 M. W. A.
Meets at 7:30 the first and third Monday evening of every month in Woodmen hall, Antioch, Ill. Visiting Neighbors always welcome
ED. GARRETT, V. C.
J. C. James, Clerk

T. N. DONNELLY & CO.
Loan and Diamond Brokers
Number 24 North Dearborn St.
Diamonds, Watches and all kinds of Jewelry at less than cost. At half the price you pay regular stores. Dec 19 01

I have three new buggies on hand that I will sell cheap for cash.

PRICES AS FOLLOWS:

Concord Runabout was $90 now $75
Runabout was $85 now $55
Top Buggy Electric Lights was $95 now $85

Just recieved a shipment of stoves come in and look them over

Frank J. Hunt. Antioch, Ill.

C. G. FOLTZ CO.
BURLINGTON, WISCONSIN

We Will Save You Money

Do your fall buying at our store. Our stock is very large and complete. We offer the best of merchandise.

Our Prices Are Low

Now is the time to look closer the following lines:

Ladies', Misses and Children's Cloaks between 300 and 400 choice garments.

Grand values in furs, dress goods, silks, and trimming. Remember our dress making department.

Suits and overcoats for men, young men and boy's. We carry a mammoth stock of clothing. Winter underwear, grand values.

Carpets and rugs. Lace curtains and drapery goods.

Make up your mind you will visit our store, and see the grand values we have to offer you.

We want to get you in the way of doing your trading with

C. G. FOLTZ CO.
BURLINGTON, WISCONSIN

LOSES FIRST FIGHT

SULZER PLEA TO OUST FRAWLEY BOARD MEMBERS ON ELIGIBILITY POINT DENIED.

WILL BAR TECHNICALITIES

Impeachment Body to Halt Evasion of Chief Issue—Accused Executive Finally Yields Office to Acting Governor.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Following the conclusion of the second session of the high court of impeachment convened to determine the fitness of William Sulzer to continue as governor of New York two important points seem to be established.

The first is that it is the purpose of the 48 senators and nine appeals judges sitting in judgment on the indictment returned against Mr. Sulzer by the state assembly, to prevent evasion of the main issue involved in the proceeding and that all legal technicalities, even when based upon the fundamental rights of the accused governor to seek vindication, shall be swept aside in order to arrive at his guilt or innocence.

The second development of Friday bore only collateral relation to the undertakings of the high court. The suspended governor himself provided it by recognizing Martin H. Glynn, the lieutenant governor, as the acting governor of the state.

Mr. Sulzer, who did not appear before the high court or in the regular office of the governor, delegated his secretary, Mr. Platt, to advise Mr. Glynn of his decision to refrain from performing further the acts or the executive until his fate shall have been determined by the high court of impeachment.

In a letter to Mr. Glynn, who occupied the temporary offices provided for him by the legislature following the refusal of Mr. Sulzer to abdicate on his indictment by the assembly, Mr. Platt turned over to the acting governor papers relating to pending extradition proceedings and documents concerning prisoners whose terms are about to expire through commutation of sentence.

In his letter to Lieutenant Governor Glynn Mr. Sulzer explains that he had taken such action because of recent decisions of the supreme court that the "executive functions should be performed by yourself as acting governor."

The version furnished by Mr. Sulzer's supporters is that in recognizing the right of Mr. Glynn to exercise the duties of governor pending the impeachment trial he was actuated solely by a desire to promote the business of the state government, which has been virtually at a standstill since Mr. Sulzer was indicted on August 15.

Counsel for Sulzer lost the first skirmish in a legal battle to prevent the accused executive from coming to trial. Their objections to permitting four senators to sit as members of the court were overruled.

William Sulzer, governor of New York, charged by the assembly with high crimes and misdemeanors, failed to appear in person before the high court of impeachment when it convened Thursday to begin the trial which will determine his guilt or innocence. Instead, his attorneys entered a "special appearance" in the governor's behalf and challenged the organization of the court and its jurisdiction over the accused.

The assembly at night adopted a resolution offered by Majority Leader Levy calling for the arrest of James C. Garrison for alleged contempt in refusing to answer questions before the judiciary committee concerning statements attributed to him to the effect that money was used to influence votes of certain members in bringing about the impeachment of Governor Sulzer.

STUDENT SLAIN DURING FIGHT

Tank Scrap at Purdue University in Indiana Fatal to Sophomore.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 22.—One student was killed and twenty-five were injured in Friday night's tank scrap between freshmen and sophomores at Purdue university. Francis Obenchain of South Whitley, Ind., a sophomore, was the victim. He was kicked on the head and died from concussion of the brain an hour later. Obenchain was a member of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity and died at the fraternity house. The first year men outnumbered their opponents and the sophomores never had a chance. Many students engaged in the fight were carried from the field, most of them only being exhausted.

No Crime Killing Madero.

Mexico City, Sept. 22.—The deaths of Francisco I. Madero and Vice-President Jose Maria Pino Suarez were not brought about by a punishable crime, according to a decision pronounced by the military court here.

Noted French Lawyer Operated On.

Boston, Sept. 22.—Maitre Ferdinand Labori, one of France's foremost lawyers, whose successful court defense of Captain Dreyfuss resulted in the latter's freedom from Devil's island, is stricken with appendicitis here.

Millionaire Sued by Wife.

St. Louis, Sept. 22.—William Lanyon, a millionaire of lead and zinc property and a plunger in the St. Louis grain market, was sued for divorce by Mrs. Annie Willet Lanyon. She charges cruelty.

PASS CURRENCY BILL

HOUSE ADOPTS MEASURE WITHOUT ESSENTIAL CHANGE.

Administaration Act Wins by Vote of 286 to 84—Now Goes to Senate for Action.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The Glass-Owen currency bill passed the house on Thursday by the overwhelming vote of 286 to 84.

The final vote brought a number of Republicans to the support of the administration measure. Twenty-four Republicans voted for the bill and three Democrats voted against it.

The measure now goes to the senate, where a long consideration before the banking committee awaits it.

Representative Wingo of Arkansas demanded a record vote on the so-called gold standard amendment, and on a division 165 Democrats and Republicans voted for it and 45 Democrats voted against it. A roll call was ordered, which changed the vote to 298 in favor of the amendment to 69 against it. All those voting "no" were Democrats.

The Progressives offered a motion to recommit the bill to the committee, with instructions to incorporate a provision to prohibit interlocking directorates in national banks. It was defeated, 206 to 71.

After much parliamentary jockeying, Progressive Leader Murdock succeeded in forcing a roll call on another motion to recommit and that disclosed a vote of 266 to 100 against it.

A burst of applause greeted the passage of the bill. The three Democrats who voted against it were Calloway, Elder and Witherspoon.

OUIMET WINS GOLF TITLE

Young American Amateur Defeats British Experts for High Honors.

Brookline, Mass., Sept. 23.—Another name was added to America's list of victories in international sport here when Francis Ouimet, a youthful local amateur, won the nineteenth open championship tournament of the United States Golf association. The winning of this national title was lifted to an international plane, due to the sensational circumstances of the play and the caliber of the entrants whom Ouimet defeated during his four days' march to victory. Safely berthed in his qualifying round, the boy trailing the leaders in the first half of the championship round, tied with Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the famous English professionals, for first place in the final round; then completely outplayed them in the eighteen-hole extra round which was necessary to decide the 1913 championship. Ouimet won with a score of 72 strokes, two under par for one of the hardest courses in the country. Vardon finished five strokes behind Ouimet with 77; Ray took third place with 78.

IMPORTANT NEWS ITEMS

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 20.—Two thieves entered J. J. Thompson's jewelry store in Monroe avenue on Thursday and shot dead J. N. Thompson and Edward Smith, besides fatally wounding Paul Townsend, another clerk. They fled with $20,000.

Toledo, O., Sept. 20.—Gen. C. L. Young, seventy-five, died at his home here from effects of a stroke of paralysis. General Young was a veteran of the Civil war and served in the battles of Gettysburg and Chancellorsville.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 20.—Fire believed to be incendiary destroyed the residence of former Alderman John T. O'Neil. It started in a restaurant on the first floor. Mr. O'Neil lowered his family with a rope and slid down the same way. Recently he received a letter threatening to burn his home.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Corcoran art gallery authorities announced they were determined to draw the line on "daring effects in nude art."

2 "WHITE SLAVERS" IN JAIL

Diggs Gets Two Years, Caminetti 18 Months—Both Men Are Heavily Fined.

San Francisco, Sept. 19.—Judge Van Fleet of the United States district court on Wednesday sentenced Maury I. Diggs, former state architect of California, to two years in the state penitentiary at San Quentin, and to pay a fine of $2,000 for violating the Mann act.

F. Drew Caminetti, son of Anthony Caminetti, United States commissioner general of immigration, was sensenced to 18 months at San Quentin and to pay a fine of $1,500 for a similar offense.

Bananas Are on Free List.

Washington, Sept. 23.—The tariff conference committee voted to leave bananas on the free list. After a long controversy, in which the influence of President Wilson was thrown in favor of free fruit.

Three on U. S. Cutter Die.

Bidgeport, Conn., Sept. 23.—Three lives were lost here at hight, and one man was saved as the steam cutter of the U. S. S. McCall anchored off this port, and was run down in the fog by the tug Seaboard.

MASTER MINDS IN COMING STRUGGLE

John J. McGraw (left) of the "Giants and "Connie Mack" (right) of the "Athletics," who, as the days grow closer for the big championship battle, are becoming more and more restless and anxious to have the post baseball season games played and over with.

G. A. R. HEAD ELECTED

WASHINGTON GARDNER OF MICHIGAN COMMANDER FOR 1914.

Next Encampment at Detroit—Will Erect Peace Memorial at Chattanooga.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 22.—Washington Gardner of Michigan was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic on Friday over the opposition of "the house of lords" of that organization.

Col. G. E. Adams of Nebraska was the candidate agreed upon by a few leaders of the Grand Army at the last encampment, and the election of this year came after one of the hardest fights ever waged in a national encampment. Michigan won a double victory, securing not only the commander-in-chief, but the next encampment also, the delegates voting to meet in 1914 at Detroit. Colonel Adams ran second in the race for commander, but after it was apparent that ex-Congressman Gardner was to be elected the full vote of the encampment was cast for him. Other officers elected were:

Senior vice commander, Thomas M. Soward, Guthrie, Okla.; junior vice commander, William L. Ross, Pittsfield, Me.; surgeon general, J. K. Weaver, Morristown, Pa.; chaplain general, Horace M. Carr, Parsons, Kan. General Gardner's first official act was to appoint Oscar A. James of Detroit adjutant general and Col. D. R. Stowits of Buffalo, N. Y., quartermaster general. The encampment adopted a resolution approving the erection of a peace memorial to the men of both armies to be erected near Chattanooga. It is similar to that which was adopted by the United Confederate Veterans here in May.

Officers of the Daughters of Veterans elected the following officers: Mrs. Mary Kidder, New Hampshire, president; Mrs. Lula Mae Collins, Chicago, Ill., senior vice-president; Mrs. Katherine Flood, Massachusetts, junior vice-president; Mrs. Agnes Davis, Minneapolis, chaplain; Mrs. Bertie Best, Ohio, inspector; Council Mesdames Guileand of Denver, Mattie Tucker of Maine, Miss Nina Littlefield of Massachusetts, Miss Clara Randall of Chicago, Miss Spencer of Washington, D. C.

COSTLY TRAIN IS WRECKED

Oriental Limited Plunges Into Burning Bridge and No One Is Injured Seriously.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 20.—When the Oriental limited, the Burlington's crack coast train, plunged through a burning bridge at Treaupealeau on Thursday, 15 were slightly injured and of the scores of passengers no one was killed. The property loss is $100,000, a baggage car, smoker, coach and two tourist sleepers being burned when a gas tank under the diner exploded. The engine and Pullmans remained on the track.

150 Years for Slaying.

Estacia, N. H., Sept. 23.—Probably the longest sentence ever meted out to a murderer here was imposed by Judge Medler when he accepted Justiano Moya's pleas of guilty to murder and gave him 150 years in jail.

Mrs. Brokow Wins Decree.

New York, Sept. 23.—An interlocutory decree of divorce was granted by the supreme court in favor of Mary Blair Brokow against W. Gould Brokaw, the Mineola millionaire. Mrs. Brokaw will get $15,000 alimony.

Grenfell to Be Best Man.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 23.—Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, head of the Labrador mission for deep sea fishermen, will act as best man for Francis S. Sayre when he is married to the president's daughter, Miss Jessie Wilson.

GAYNOR IS BURIED

BUSINESS IS HALTED IN NEW YORK DURING LATE MAYOR'S FUNERAL.

THOUSANDS FOLLOW CASKET

Services at Trinity Simple, But Impressive—Remains Are Interred In Lot at Greenwood Cemetery Attended Only by the Family.

New York, Sept. 23.—The funeral cortege with the late Mayor William J. Gaynor's body passed down Broadway on Monday while thousands of persons lined the street with bared heads. The procession paused at Trinity church where Bishop H. Greer officiated at services that were simple, but impressive. Hundreds of police guarded the line of march to keep the crowd in order.

All morning the body of the late mayor lay in state in the main corridor of the City Hall while a steady stream of visitors passed through. When time for the removal of the body to Trinity church came City Hall park was crowded.

All business practically was suspended for an hour while the services were in progress in the famous old church. Assisting Bishop Greer was Rev. L. E. Holden, pastor of the Episcopal church at St. James, L. I., in which town Mayor Gaynor made his summer home. Rev. Dr. Frank Page of Culpepper, Va., also aided in the services.

The funeral procession was solemn and impressive. Eight active pallbearers were chosen, four from the police department and four from the rank and file of the fire department, bore the casket. They were followed by twelve honorary pallbearers.

William H. Taft, Mayor Ardolph L. Kline, Supreme Court Justice Martin J. Keogh, Herman Ridder, Jacob Schiff, Robert Adamson, R. A. C. Smith, James Creelman, Archibald R. Watson, Edward M. Grout, Police Commissioner Rhinelander Waldo and John D. Crimmons. Lieutenant William Kennell, who has acted as police guard of all mayors since Mayor Strong, walked before the casket.

Trinity church held about 800 people when the services began. All of the justices of the supreme court of Manhattan and Brooklyn, all the members of the board of estimate, board of aldermen, the heads of the various city departments and the members of the citizens' committee of 100 on funeral arrangements, were present.

After the ceremony the procession re-formed and crossed Brooklyn bridge to the Borough hall, where it disbanded. Burial was made in the family plot at Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn, and was attended only by members of the family.

Alleged Madero Slayer Killed.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Lieut. Francisco Cardenas, accused by the Mexican constitutionalists of having killed Francisco I. Madero with a shot from behind, has himself been assassinated, according to reports received at Carranzas' headquarters. These say that Cardenas was murdered in Michocan.

Lady Decies Has Daughter.

London, Sept. 23.—Lady Decies, who was Miss Vivien Gould of New York, gave birth to a second daughter at the Decies home, Selton Park, Buckinghamshire. Mother and daughter are reported to be doing well.

Students Terrorize Town.

Lima, Ohio, Sept. 23.—Two Ohio Northern university students are prisoners and a hundred others escaped arrest by fleeing before the police, following a rampage, after terrorizing the residence district.

TO EDUCATE FARMER

PACKERS VOTE $500,000 FUND TO SHOW PROFIT IN RAISING CATTLE.

WILL AVERT MEAT FAMINE

Prevailing High Prices Blamed on Government by Delegate, Who Says Labels Are Changed Too Often.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—An "educational fund" of $500,000 will be expended by the American Meat Packers' association in an attempt to induce farmers to raise beef cattle and thus cut down the high cost of living and avert a threatened famine in beef.

This was decided by the meat packers on Monday at their annual convention, on the motion of Gustav Bischoff, Sr., of the Independent Packing company, St. Louis, president of the organization.

In making his motion for the creation of an educational fund Mr. Bischoff pointed out that the farmers are not raising beef cattle because they do not consider it profitable.

"What the farmers of the country need is education along the lines of how to operate their farms," said Mr. Bischoff. "They imagine that the only way they can make 'both ends meet' is to raise an abundance of grains and feed no beef cattle.

"As a matter of fact, there is not a farmer in the land who could not raise a few beef cattle to good advantage. What the farmers need is education. With this in mind, I move that a fund of $100,000 a year be voted for a period of five years, to be expended among the farmers in a campaign of education. Until the farmers raise cattle for beef, the price of meat cannot be lowered. As long as the supply is scant the price must of necessity be high."

The motion to create the $500,000 educational fund was carried by unanimous vote, and President Bischoff will appoint a committee to devise ways and means for carrying on this work.

Another packer who held the farmer responsible for the high cost of meats was Charles F. Kamrath of Spokane, Wash.

"If every farmer could be induced to raise one or two beef steers, the high cost of meats would be almost solved," he said.

M. A. Traylor, vice-president of the National Stock Yards National bank, East St. Louis, Ill., recommended that banks be empowered to loan money on future cattle shipments, the same as they now do on grain crops.

James S. Agar, chairman of a special committee appointed at the last session of the association to confer with government officials as to the cause of the high price of meats, asserted that meats were sold at a higher figure because the government demands frequent changing of labels.

Fearsome forecasts of a possible famine pervaded the assembly. The more direct danger note was sounded on Sunday when James Craig, jr., chairman of the association's executive committee, read the annual report of that body to the convention. He said the situation was critical.

TROOPS STOP RACE RIOTING

Polish Miners Beaten by Americans Following Double Murder at Benton, Ill.

Benton, Ill., Sept. 24.—A race riot between American and Polish miners was begun on the town square here on Monday as a result of the double murder Sunday of Ewell Hutchins and Quincy Drummonds, who were killed by a band of drunken miners while returning from a Polish dance, where they had furnished the music.

Company F. Fourth infantry, Illinois National Guard, located at Benton, was ordered out by Governor Dunne, upon recommendation of Mayor Estes of Benton and Sheriff Vaugh of Franklin county. Capt. O. C. Smith is in command.

The disturbance assumed such proportions that Mayor Estes swore in 25 extra police and sent for the sheriff of Franklin county. The mayor then mounted a box in the center of the square and sought to pacify the Americans.

Twenty-five foreigners, who appeared on the square, were beaten severely and pursued to their homes in the Polish colony. Every other foreigner who was found on the streets met similar treatment.

Fifteen Polish miners were arrested and are being held pending an investigation into the double murder.

Scares Woman, Is Lynched.

Louisville, Miss., Sept. 24.—Because he frightened a white woman by his strange actions, Harry Crosby, a negro, was lynched. The woman says when the negro learned her husband was absent, he acted peculiarly.

Seeks Divorce From Actress Wife.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Friz Van Frantzius, millionaire broker, who was divorced recently that he might wed Saharet Rose, the dancer with whose picture he fell in love, brought suit for a divorce from the actress.

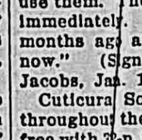

Fatally Shot by Brother.

Logansport, Ind., Sept. 24.—Antonio Carrobine is dying here from a bullet wound. His brother Ontolin was being sought by the police. Six years ago in Sicily the brothers fought. Each loved the same girl.

Foley Kidney Pills Succee

because they are a good honest me icine that cannot help but heal ki ney and bladder ailments and urina irregularities, if they are once take into the system. Try them no for positive and permanent help

THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY. No. 1. No. 2. No.
THERAPION Used in Franc
Hospitals wit
great success, CURES CHRONIC WEAKNESS, LOST VIGO
& VIM, KIDNEY, BLADDER, DISEASES, BLOOD POISON
PILES. EITHER No. DRUGGISTS or MAIL $1. POST 4 CT
FOUGERA Co, 90, BEEKMAN ST, NEW YORK or LYMAN BRO
TORONTO. WRITE FOR FREE BOOK TO Dr. LE CLERC
MED. Co, HAVERSTOCK RD, HAMPSTEAD, LONDON, ENG.
TRY NEW DRAGEE (TASTELESS) FORMOF EASY TO TAKE THERAPION SAFE AND LASTING CURE
SEE THAT TRADE MARKED WORD 'THERAPION' IS ON BRIT. GOVT. STAMP AFFIXED TO ALL GENUINE PACKETS.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
A toilet preparation of merit.
Helps to eradicate dandruff.
For Restoring Color and Beauty to Gray or Faded Hair.
50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

CANCER FREE TREATISE
The Leach Sanatorium, Indianapolis, Ind., has published a booklet which gives interesting facts about the cause of Cancer, also tells what to do for pain, bleeding, oder, etc. Write for it today, mentioning this paper.

W. N. U., CHICAGO, NO. 39–1913.

Tommy's Hands.

Ma—Tommy, did you wash your hands this morning?

Tommy—I washed one of them, mother. The other didn't need it.

PIMPLES ON FACE AND ARMS

411 Howard St., Dayton, Ohio.—"About a year ago my face, neck, arms and back were beginning to become afflicted with pimples and blackheads. My pimples would get very large and appear to come to a head. If I tried to open them the pain would be terrible, but nothing could be taken from them. They itched very badly; I suffered terribly from itching. After scratching, the pimples would swell and after the swelling was gone my face would become very red and remain so for some time. My clothing caused the itching to be worse. When it was warm it was utterly impossible to sleep.

"I used a cream and the more I used the worse they got. Shortly after, I read the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and determined to use them. The itching stopped almost immediately. This was about three months ago and I am entirely cured now." (Signed) Miss Marguerite E. Jacobs, Jan. 13, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Marked Similarity.

"If 12 persons were to agree to dine together every day, but never sit in exactly the same order around the table," didactically stated the professor, "it would take them thirteen million years, at the rate of one dinner a day, and they would have eaten more than four hundred or seven dinners, before they did get all the possible arrangements in which they could place themselves.

"Yep," snarled Uncle Pepys. "That would be nearly as many ways as a small boy rearranges himself during a long sermon.—Judge.

Quiet English Parish.

The tiny parish of Clannaborough, North Devon, England, a little village, has a population of only 42, so that baptisms, marriages and burials are not very frequent. The other week the first marriage ceremony for 15 years took place, but even then the couple were not parishioners, the bride coming from Mr. Austell, the bridegroom, whose home is at Exmouth, being the rector's brother-in-law.

Like a Boomerang.

Apropos of the divorce evil, Dr. Herbert M. Shisholm, of Reno statistician, said with a sigh:

"An exhaustive study of divorce statistics forces me to the belief that the average man's heart is like a toy balloon—lighter than air, and most restless when tied to somebody."

HAPPY OLD AGE
Most Likely to Follow Proper Eating.

As old age advances we require less food to replace waste and food that will not overtax the digestive organs, while supplying true nourishment.

Such an ideal food is found in Grape-Nuts, made of whole wheat and barley by long baking and action of diastase in the barley which changes the starch into a most digestible sugar.

The phosphates are placed up under the outer-coat of the wheat, are included in Grape-Nuts but are lacking in white flour because the outer-coat of the wheat darkens the flour and is left out by the miller. These natural phosphates are necessary to the well-balanced building of muscle, brain and nerve cell.

"I have used Grape-Nuts," writes an Iowa man, "for 8 years and feel as good and am stronger than I was ten years ago.

"Among my customers I meet a man every day who is walking along in years and attributes his good health to Grape-Nuts and Postum which he has used for the last 5 years. He mixes Grape-Nuts with cream and says they go fine together.

"For many years before I began to eat Grape-Nuts, I could not say that I enjoyed life or knew what it was to be able to say 'I am well.' I suffered greatly with constipation, but now my habits are as regular as ever in my life.

"Whenever I make extra effort I depend on Grape-Nuts food and it just fills the bill. I can talk and write a great deal easier."

"There's a Reason" Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

SEA SERPENTS OLD AS SANTA CLAUS

THE ELOSMOSURUS RESEMBLED THE SEA SERPENT MORE THAN ANY OTHER VERTEBRATE ©AMERICAN NATURAL HISTORY MUSEUM

So many hoax dealing with the sea-serpent have been played imaginative travelers who have described a sketched the "moder saurian," that the very ne of the brute is avoided by all b brave. To say that you have s the sea serpent is to put with you tongue a blot on your own chart. Skippers who have beheld monster have made no entry of fact in their log book lest they derided when their vessels are sun port. Naturalists have hemmed hawed in their writings regarding Poets have been reticent upon theme—all except John Milton, who marks upon Leviathan in "Para Lost" have been construed by a authority to mean Sea Serpe and simple. For a century the entific world has looked at sea-pents askance.

And yet there is one profional field in life whose members supplied more data concerning serpents and given more profuse mation in regard to them than the skippers and travelers who lever circled the globe. From the liest times it has remained for the stry to supply us with our greatest ber of "facts" regarding the ma descendant of Adam's happiness beacons, priests and bishops ha been sea serpents galore, and there on file the names of at least a doz erical men who are involved in this of sea serpent stories, from us Magnus, the archbishop of Ua, down to Rev. P. W. Demboldt, deacon of Molde; Rev. William s, Rev. Alden Bradford, Rev. Mr. mings of Sullivan, and Rev. Ader Maclean, all good names and est, some of them from purit New England.

The bishop of Pontopiddan, an worthy divine, believed implicitl sea serpents, and even altered th scriptions and drawings of other to gratify his own enthusiasm in gard to them. The bishop of Pd pidden, who live in the middle of eighteenth century, advanced the ory that the mermaids of mediae lore were nothing more nor less th sea cows that browse upon salt wa greens with their front flippers a open their moths sideways. But regard to sea serpents the bishop w not so skeptical. He described the on hearsay a numerous, lengthy and in length, pos- most a century later Dr. Oudemans s large as pew- kes up Mr. Mitchell's article and s, lilac or blue in color, an that Mr. Mitchell lied, quoting sometimes fiery red with anger. a gentleman's entire paper to prove it.

The good divine even made a journey down the Scandinavian coast to investigate a tale that a tablecloth had been made by a fisherman's family from the skin of a sea serpent which the reptile had sloughed off in the pleasant waters of the harbor of Kobberveug. The bishop was honest enough to state that he had been gulled in this respect, but did not alter his opinion regarding sea serpents in general. The illustration in his book showing a sea serpent reared on his tail, squirting profuse gallons of water out of his snout, was drawn and exaggerted by the bishop of Pontopiddan from the sketch made by Bing, who had forever immortalized a sea serpent beheld by Hans Egede. It is notable that Hans Egede was himself an evangelist, whose work as a missionary was taking him to the wilds of Greenland when the sea serpent appeared before him.

Olaus Magnus, the archbishop of Upsala, writes at length of a sea serpent, ascribing to it a length of 200 feet and a girth of 20, and stating the beliefs of the sailors of his time regarding it—how it was fond of calves and sheep and swine, and used to snap the seamen from the decks of their own vessels.

Rev. Mr. Cummings of Sullivan describes a whopping sea serpent that he saw not far from Long Island in July of 1808. Thirty-seven years later another divine, Rev. P. W. Demboldt, made the startling statement that not only had he seen the sea serpent in the water near his home on the Norwegian coast, but that he had shot at it with a musket and evidently wounded it quite badly, from the ruction that took place in the water afterward.

Rev. Alexander Maclean, who flourished at about the same time as Rev. Mr. Cummings, observed off the island of Coll what he first called, in his clerical manner, an "object." It appeared like a small rock, he said, but after looking at it for some time he saw it elevated above the surface of the sea and move in his direction with a measured and dignified motion. In intense alarm the minister steered for shore, with the sea serpent apparently pursuing him. It drew so near that he could see its shining eye, but on finding the water shallow it apparently became discouraged and moved off to sea again, where later, according to the minister's story, it was reported as having frightened nearly to death the crews of half a dozen fishing vessels.

These accounts of the findings of reverend gentlemen were gathered together by Anthony Oudemans, who published a voluminous book on sea serpents. This book contains all reported appearances.

Dr. Oudemans, from whose volume part of this material has been gathered, not only goes into all the "veracious" reports of the sea serpent's appearance, but into all the hoaxes that have been played in regard to it. He has even described a hoax that was perpetrated against the sea serpent by a learned writer who desired to show that the reptile was non-existent, and in connection with this piece of false work the present writer unearthed a fraud that has lain dormant for 50 years.

Nearly 100 years ago a certain Samuel L. Mitchell wrote a paper designed to throw discredit on the sea serpent stories that were current at that date. The paper appeared in the American Journal of Arts and Sciences for 1829. But the tation was responsible for the very of even another fraud than one laid at the door of Mr. Mitch For in 1862 there appeared in ure Hour an article entitled "Sea pent Stories," by John Hollingshe who, after praising Mr. Mitchell the "first honest exposure" of sea serpent, and quoting him fo paragraph, proceeds to steal his ar verbatim and use it as his own, w was ascertained by the presen iter when comparing the quotatio Mitchell's article with the article by Hollingshead.

One of the st famous pro-sea serpent hoaxes cording to Dr. Oudemans, is a fr that was achieved by the corresp t of a French newspaper, who a thrilling account of a sea serp beheld by C. Renard and seven oth from the deck of the Royal Mail st ship Don, on the evening of the 10 August, 1881.

M. Renard the others were sitting on deck, s is alleged, enjoying a perfect even and the gleam of a moonlit sea, a horrible and nauseating mo came to the surface at no gr distance from the ship, while at ame time an overpowering stench acked the nostrils of the travelers

The monster, the report, measured from 40 to efers, in so far as the numerous made measurement possible. the dorsal ridge to the middle of belly the body appeared to be cod by ranges of scales, and the ral roughness of the surface and moss-grown skin appeared to indic a great and assured age. The d was pointed, with teeth "sharp enormous," and from the throat, ched to a kind of cushion," ther ojected a hard tongue, "pointed, ded with suckers and glittering steel." This horrible brute staye the surface of the water in full vi or at least ten minutes, when it s again beneath the surface of the w The alleged beholders of the te sight gave solemn testimony o ir experience to the editor by lette which it was stated with most rkable assurance that all these were truths of refined and intri purity. A sketch accompanied the letter and is printed here.

But after all the cavil and falsehood pro and con regarding enormous serpents of the ocean, a residue of truth remains in some of the tales of the sea serpent's appearance that cause the present day scientists to shrug their shoulders. Some of the reports of the monster are not easily explained away, and in the early part of the nineteenth century so many reputable witnesses are said to have beheld it that even the conservative Encyclopedia Britannica admits that some strange sea monster must have existed and put in his appearance at that time. So many times did the sea serpent show itself off the New England coast that it gained for itself the name of the "American sea serpent," and so many sturdy old Puritans testified to its general shape, size and appearance that a pretty good idea has been gained of the kind of animal that showed itself. According to most descriptions, the sea serpent was about 60 feet long, dark in color, but lighter below, in the manner of an eel, with a flat head and a neck about 16 inches in diameter.

An English naval officer, Captain McQuhal, of H. M. S. Daedalus, inserted in his official report to Admiral Sir W. H. Gage in 1845 the statement that he had seen an animal of this description rapidly approaching his ship in 24 degrees 44 minutes south latitude by 9 degrees 22 minutes east longiture. He described it as an "enormous serpent," with its head raised about four feet above the water, swimming along at an even and speedy rate and at least 60 feet in length.

Captain McQuhal's account encouraged other officers to tell of similar experiences, where previously they had not dared for fear of ridicule. The sea serpent has appeared too often to mention in detail, but in 1906 it was reported by Messrs. Meade-Waldo and Nicall, two members of the Royal Zoological society, who insist that they saw the sea serpent 100 yards away while cruising in the earl of Crawford's yacht, the Valhalla, off the coast of Brazil, on December 7, 1905.

While standing together on deck the two zoologists declare that suddenly they saw a great fin come out of the water 100 yards from the ship. Field glasses were brought to bear, and Mr. Meade-Waldo beheld an enormous head rise slowly, followed by a neck that was about the thickness of a man's body. The head, the zoologists say, was distinctly turtle-esque in its appearance, but, as the animal came no nearer and shortly disappeared, its exact size could not be ascertained.

A long flock of birds skimming the waves once gave the effect of a mightly serpent swimming at considerable speed, and trailing seaweed has been approached and even harpooned in the belief that it was a serpent. Giant squid, which are as fearful and wonderful as the serpent itself, have been mistaken for the latter, and it is probable that the serpent alleged to have been seen by Claus Egede was of this variety.

In fact, in spite of all the ridicule and all the hoaxes that have been given forth in the name of this strange animal, there is no reason after all to deny that it may be living. Holder has commented on the fact that the bivalves of the Mesozoic age have been preserved to the present time. Why then is it not possible for Mother Earth to have stored in her sea caverns some uncouth, cretaceous monster that occasionally shows itself, and each time elicits the well-known and highly rediculous cry: "The sea serpent?"

TREE AS UNIVERSAL PROVIDER

An even more marvelous tree than the date palm is the Carnahuba palm, which grows in Brazil. Its roots produce the same medicinal effect as sarsaparilla. From parts of the trees wine and vinegar are made. Its fruit is used for feeding cattle.

Of the straw, hats, baskets brooms, and mats are made. It is also used for thatching houses. The public has an agreeable taste and the nut is sometimes used as a stitute for coffee. Its stems afford rong, light fibers, and serve also oists, rafters, and other building erials. It yields a saccharine subs e, as well as a starch resembling s

Of the wood of the ste musical instruments, water tubes, pumps are made. From the st white liquid similar to the mil the cocoanut may be extracted. oreover, salt is extracted from the tree, and likewise an alkali used in the manufacture of common soap.

First to Make Silk.

The first silk was made 2000 B. C. by the wife of a Chinese emperor. Aristotle, in 350, first mentions silk among the Greeks. The manufacture of silk was carried on in Sicily in the twelfth century, later spreading to Italy, Spain and the south of France. It was not manufactured in England before 1604.

ARMY FLIER'S ACT

Carries Passengers 448 Miles in State of Texas.

Goes From Texas City to San Antonio and Back—Proves Need of Strong Construction for Aeroplane in Warfare.

New York.—"Lieut. Milling has become one of the foremost aviators of the world," said Maj. Gen. William H. Carter after reading the report of the great Texas City-San Antonio and return flight of Lieut. Thomas DeW. Milling, United States army. Milling broke all American records for a continuous flight with a passenger and proved that a country could be mapped by an observer in an aeroplane, even though the machine flew at an altitude of more than 1,000 feet and at a speed approximately a mile a minute.

In making his report to the war department, Capt. A. S. Cowan, commanding the first aero squad, now on duty in Texas, of the troops mobilized at the time of the outbreaks in Mexico, called attention to two interesting facts—that Milling and Sherman had established a new American endurance record for pilot and passenger, as well as a new American distance record for pilot and passenger and that they came within 12 minutes of the world's record for endurance.

The distance between Texas City and San Antonio is 224 miles, and Milling covered the distance there and back, with only a short stop at San Antonio, at a speed of more than 55 miles an hour. The weather conditions were anything but good; yet despite all this, Lieut. Sherman, who is an engineer officer, was able to may in most creditable fashion practically the entire country between the two Texas cities.

Brig.-Gen. Scriven, chief of the signal corps, has just made public the report of Lieut. Milling and Lieut. Sherman, in which for the first time the story of the fight is given.

Gen. William H. Carter.

The report, in part, says:

"In going from Texas City to San Antonio left the ground at 2:15 p. m. March 28, 1913, in an east wind of 25 miles an hour. After circling the field for five minutes and attaining an altitude of 900 feet, started for San Antonio. It was originally intended to make the flight by compass, verifying the course by prominent points. However, the air was extremely rough and so hazy that objects over two miles away could not be distinguished. Accordingly, after following a compass course west until the Santa Fe railroad was reached, at a point of five miles east of Algao, it was determined to follow this. The route followed passed through Algao, Arcola, Richmond, Eagle Lake, Columbus, Flatonia and Lulling to Fort Sam Houston. We arrived over Fort Sam Houston at 5:35 p. m. and continued circling the field until 6:37, when we landed. The total distance over the route followed is 224 miles, making an average velocity of 68.9 miles an hour. The total time in air was four hours and 22 minutes.

"Minor repairs were made March 29, 1913, and it was intended to start back March 30, when weather conditions were unusually good, but the preliminary trial flight demonstrated the weakness of one skid and the return was postponed until March 31. The start was made on this date at 1:29 p. m. in a south-southeast wind of 20 miles an hour, which afterward shifted into south. The route followed was the same as in going over and the landing was made at Texas City at 5:17 p. m. The total tome in air was three hours and 57 minutes; the average velocity, 56 miles per hour.

"The return trip demonstrated anew the necessity for having excess power. Our specifications seem severe and would insure sufficient power under ideal weather conditions, but with a heavily laden machine and rough weather—the conditions we might normally find in war—the present excess of power is sufficient. Though constantly endeavoring to climb, so much power was used in fighting gusts and down trends that an altitude of 1,500 feet was not gotten until practically the end of the trip."

Siren Sentenced to Siberia

After Wedding Sixteen Men and Robbing Them Woman Was Convicted and Deported.

St. Petersburg.—After causing innumerable men to fall in love with her—actually marrying 16 of the more impressionable and richer ones—Tatiana Betcheriak has just been exiled for life to Siberia.

The woman, who is now more than forty years old, retains her remarkable beauty to a surprising degree. She married at the age of sixteen and lived with her husband about three years.

Becoming a widow, she soon wedded a rich land owner and compelled him to spend large sums upon her. When he was nearly ruined she left him, but remembered to take all his valuables with her.

The next "husband" was a stock broker, who quickly fell captive to the fair Tatiana. Having induced him to transfer all his property to her the adventurous beauty sold it and escaped abroad with a lieutenant, whom, however, she quickly deserted in order to wed a fascinated Oriental consul.

Seizing all the consul's realizable possessions, his "wife" left bim poste haste and returned to Russia by means of a stolen passport. Here she was wooed and won by an important official. Again she left her latest "husband," after abstracting all portable valuables, but this time she was caught and exiled to Siberia.

It now seemed as though her career had received an effective check, but the chief jailer in the far eastern wastes soon came under the spell of the beautiful Tatiana and fled with her to Constantinople.

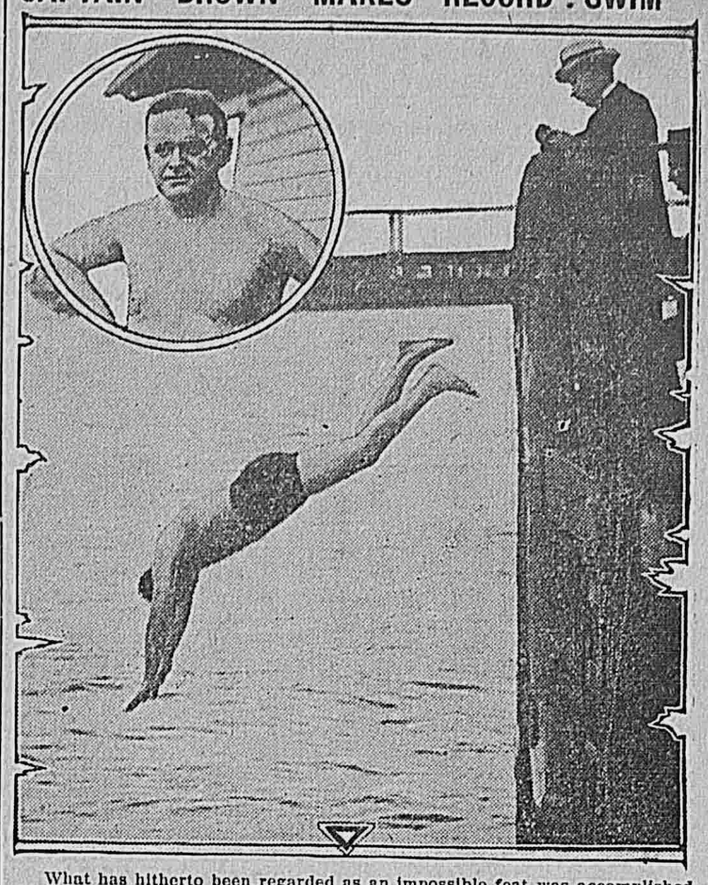

Here, however, the woman chanced to encounter her former "husband," the Oriental consul, and, with a justified dread of complications, she suddenly left the chief jailer and returned to Russia.

For two years she lived peacefully in Russia, and enjoyed a considerable private income, having realized excellently upon her various "husbands'" valuables. Also she made a great number of other eligibles temporarily happy by "marrying" them.

In this varied path of life she continued until her sixteenth victim, a lawyer, became wedded to her. The union proved peaceful and happy; there was a child. But, at a ball in a small town she came face to face with a former "husband," who, despite her entreaties, informed the man whom she genuinely loved.

The latter instituted proceedings, and the police then discovered that the woman was a former convict.

CAPTAIN BROWN MAKES RECORD SWIM

What has hitherto been regarded as an impossible feat was accomplished recently by Capt. Alfred E. Brown, commodore of the Flushing Bay division of the American Life Saving society, when he landed at Sandy Hook in his fifth attempt to cover the distance of 22 miles from the battery to Sandy Hook, N. Y. Captain Brown was in the water 13 hours and 38 minutes. The picture shows him diving off the Battery wall on the start of the long swim and the insert shows him after he had reached his goal.

KING OF THE RATCATCHERS

London Man Who Failed in Prospecting for Gold Accidentally Finds New Profession.

London.—King of the ratcatchers and champion blackbeetle destroyer is the title conferred upon himself by a certain London business man. Otherwise he is Mr. B. L. Philips, of Messrs. B. L. & N. Philips, Limited. This is his story of how he undertook an odd business and came into his unique title:

"Years ago in America I went prospecting for gold," he said, "I did not find gold, but something almost as precious. At that time we were infested by cockroaches. But they always avoided the crumblings of the quartz. I thought there must be a specific reason for this shyness on their part, for they are not shy as a rule. So I called in an anlytical chemist, and together we investigated matters.

"We had just finished our investigations when the news came that all the kitchens of Chicago were overrun by cockroaches. I went to the chef of the largest kitchen in Chicago and said, 'Let me clear your kitchen.'

"He was in despair, and said, 'Impossible!'

"'Good,' I replied. 'This is where I arrive,' and I drove the cockroaches out of Chicago.

"And now, young man, one word of advice. I advise you to start a new profession. I have done that, and found it very profitable."

EX-KING MANUEL IS MARRIED

Former Ruler of Portugal Marries Princess Victoria of Hohenzollern in Germany.

Sigmaringen, Germany.—With the pomp and ceremony associated with royalty, former King Manuel of Portugal was married to Princess Augustine Victoria of Hohenzollern in the castle of the bride's father here. The ceremony, which followed the Roman

Ex-King Manuel.

Catholic ritual, was conducted by Cardinal Netto, former archbishop patriarch of Lisbon.

There was a brilliant gathering of princes and princesses. Among them were the prince of Wales, representing King George of England; Prince Eitel Frederick, representing Emperor William of Germany; Prince and Princess Henry XXXIII. of Reuss; Princes Frederich of Hohenzollern; Prince Carol and Princess Elizabeth.

FRITZI SCHEFF A BANKRUPT

Noted Actress Files Petition in New York—Liabilities $150,000—Assets $75,000.

New York.—Fritzi Scheff of footlight fame filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy here. She owes approximately $150,000. Her assets, including real estate at Big Stone Gap, Va., home of her former husband, John Fox, Jr., novelist, are listed at $75,000.

Has Court to Change Name.

Paterson, N. J.—On his plea that not one man out of a hundred could pronounce his name, John Yuszkevicz of this city got a court order to change his name to John Jinks.

Hotel Blocks for Tombstones.

New York.—The granite blocks that have served as walls for the old Astor house here will be sold to a tombstone maker by the firm engaged to raze the landmark.

RURAL NEWS ITEMS

MILLBURN

Silo filling is the order of the day in this vicinity.

Smith Hughes visited his brother, Alex the past week.

Missionary Tea at the Misses McDougall was well attended.

Mrs. Menzo Webb visited her sister in Highland Park over Sunday.

Miss Alice Jamieson returned to Chicago Sunday having spent a two weeks vacation with the home folks.

Mrs. Martha Gail of Highland Park attended the funeral of Mr. Colegrove and visited other relatives last week.

RUSSELL

Miss Browe entertained the Ladies Aid Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner Colby of Forest Glenn spent Sunday here.

The Young People's club have donated a new walk for the church.

Mrs. Ben Schlosser and children visited at Waukegon a couple of day.

Mr. Osborn and family have purchased a farm near Kilburn, Wis., where they will move in the near future.

Mr. Martin Hogan met with a terrible death at Russell last Saturday morning while crossing the St. Paul tracks a north bound train struck the buggy in which he was riding. Mr. Hogan was killed at once. The funeral was held at the St. Patrick's church at Millburn Tuesday. Burial at Mill Creek.

LAKE VILLA

Mrs. Ola Barnstable spent Sunday in Chicago.

Paul Avery transacted business in Chicago two days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller visited in Waukegan the first of this week.

Walter Daniels has gone to Evanston to attend school the coming year.

Archie Gibson has suspended work on his house for the present, having fractured a rib.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniels entertained relatives from Davenport, Iowa, the past week.

Ray Kerr and Miss Ella Johnson of Chicago were Sunday visitors at the Jas. Kerr home.

R. E. Hussey and Miss Margaret Weber attended a play in Chicago on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Louise Shepard and Mrs. Mary Lake of Gurnee were in town Tuesday in the interests of the W. C. T. U.

Mr. Dixon of Union Grove has purchased the stock of goods of Mr. Peterson and will conduct a store in the same building. He expects to carry a full line of dry goods and groceries.

Rev. Lowie moved his family and household goods last week to Salem, Wis., where he has an appointment to preach the coming year. He will preach his farewell sermon here next Sunday. May good luck attend them.

The marriage of Max Deylitz of our town and Miss Alma Ikeman of Chicago was announced last week, but the wedding had taken place last June, they had kept it a secret from their friends. However, it is never to late to extend congratulations. They expect to make Lake Villa their home for the winter.

WHEN THE MAN FAILS HER

By JENNIE PROCTOR.

"You must choose between me and —this man." A father stood before a daughter, black-browed, unyielding.

"Oh, I cannot, father. I cannot."

"You must. If this man—this scoundrel—is to be your husband, I will have nothing more to do with you. That is final, Amy."

"Father, oh, father, please! I love him. I—"

But the father had closed the door behind him. He was done.

Amy Plummer, golden-haired, young, beautiful, headstrong, made her choice. She left her father's house and married the man she loved—married him in the rooms of a justice of the peace. When her baby was born, Amy's happiness was almost complete. The one flaw was that her father had not yet forgiven her for her marriage to Will Page. A successful man, able-bodied, living in the midst of luxury, he was deaf to his daughter's plea. He had closed the parental door against her and hers forever.

When her baby girl was two years old a storm broke over Amy's household. She never knew quite how it had happened. She had been so busy with little Evelyn. Her housesold duties had absorbed every vacant hour. She had so little time to see what was going on about her. Perhaps she had neglected Will. Many evenings she was too tired to notice Will's absence or his whereabouts.

But one morning the scales dropped from her eyes. Her baby was taken from her and she was cast adrift upon the world—a divorced woman. Another and more care-free woman had taken her place. Where Amy had cared for the child and had done her own work, a nurse and servants were employed. And there was nothing that Amy could do. They told her that the law had so decided things, and Amy knew nothing of the law.

In desperation, the cast-off went to a friend to borrow the money to go to another city. Often she was hungry and her clothes were ragged, threadbare. There was no work for the inexperienced hand. At last, a kindly woman gave her employment as a domestic servant. For seven years she lived thus, unknown and unmolested.

Crossing a busy street one day, an automobile dashed around the corner. Its shrill siren startled the nervous woman. She dodged first one way, then the other. The big car passed over her; then it stopped; she was lifted into the tonneau and hurried to the nearest hospital.

When the woman opened her eyes they rested upon a golden-haired girl, fashionably gowned. It was the same girl who had bidden the chauffeur stop the machine that its victim might be cared for.

"Don't try to talk, mother," said the girl. "They are bringing grandfather here. I want you to save your strength for him."

"But—you—and—father—together?"

"Yes. I ran away from my father's home. I couldn't stand it, and grandfather took me in. You see, grandfather failed rapidly after you went away. I seldom leave his side ow. He seems to get so much comfort from just holding my hand. For years we have searched for you. And now you must be very quiet because we want to take you—home. Grandfather needs you so."

The woman's tired eyes lifted up wonderfully and she went to sleep murmuring: "He needs me; he needs me."

By a big bay window overlooking a park, Amy Plummer Page and her daughter were standing.

"Mother, I wish you wouldn't make me learn to earn my own living. We have money, and—"

"Every girl should be able to make her own way in the world, unaided; every woman. For none knows what day she will be thrown upon her own resources. I want to teach you to care for yourself. The thing we women must learn is to put our trust in ourselves, Evelyn, not in men."

Unseen by the two women, a broken old man had entered the room. His wrinkled hand rested on his daughter's arm.

"You are right, my daughter. We men fail our women, but our women never fail us. It has always been so. It will always be so. You are right; our women must learn to stand alone."

Daughter and granddaughter tenderly placed the old man in the room's most comfortable chair, with cushions and footstool. One brought him his favorite drink. The other selected one of the books that he liked best and read to him until he slept. Then both sat perfectly still watching over him, lest something should come to disturb his comfort.

And when he awoke they smiled tenderly up into his face, and asked what more they could do to brighten his hours.

Like Many Others.

A doctor, while enjoying a holiday in the country, took the opportunity along with a friend to go fishing. During the operations the doctor's sinker came off and was lost. He was in a dilemma—no sinker, no more fishing that day. Happy thought; he had a bottle in his pocket. The bottle was filled with water, carefully corked, and sent down on its mission.

After a few minutes' interval the doctor had a bite and pulled up his line at racing speed, finding a fine pair of fish, one on each hook.

"Ha, doctor, twins this time!" exclaimed his companion.

"Yes," quoth the doctor, "and brought up on a bottle, too."

Explained.

"I don't understand Smith. He says things are awfully dull in his business and yet he has just bought a new automobile." "Well, you see, a panic knives is his profession."

Put It in Another Way.

Macaul said: "You must dig deep if you wd build high." He might have add "You must live in littleness if would rise to greatness."

Eu ans Fond of Oysters.

Engla eats six hundred tons of oysters year, Germany three hundred a fifty tons, Holland one hundred a sixty tons.

rkable Eye for Detail.

"Yo now Wigley—great fellow for d." "He is that. Wigley's the s of chap that would go and get m ed and be able afterward to tell y whether it was Mendelssohn, 'Loh in,' or 'Tannhauser" they play during the ceremony."—St. Lou epublic.

ms This Way Sometimes.

S men succeed in life by minding r own business. Others manage draw large salaries for neglec other people's business.—W gton Star.

and Noted for Its Springs.

ed for its unfailing spring of p sparkling water, the island of Ta lies about 10 miles from the of Panama, in the Pacific. Here mail steamers plying between Bal and San Francisco lie by for their y of fresh water, as do also the ers that sail southward from ma.

Produces No Finished Products.

gypt is solely a producer of raw terial. Its entire needs of manufac ed goods and prepared material are t from abroad. Raw cotton represents four-fifths of the total value of exports and cotton and seed fourtenths of the remainder. The public bt of Egypt amounts to $430,534,014 d is almost wholly of foreign holding.

Without Logic.

There is no logic in a baby's cry, woman's smile or a beautiful sunset.—Life.

FALL OPENING EXHIBIT

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27th and the following week
S-O-U-V-E-N-I-R-S O-N O-P-E-N-I-N-G D-A-Y-S

ACCEPT THIS INVITATION TO COME AND SEE

IT is with real pleasure that we welcome you to our store this fall. Our splendid display of every new wearable for misses and women, boy's and girl's forms an interesting exhibit of the latest and best style tendencies. You will find an elaborate and extensive showing to choose from and the values will be sure to please you.

ABOUT OUR CLOAKS AND SUITS

We have not confind ourselves this fall to one or two expensive lines of coats and suits (where dollars are added to the price of every garment to cover the heavy expense of advertising them) but we are showing only one or two of the best styles each, from about fifty different manufacturers, you benefit.

TRIMMED HATS

It is with pride that we show you our trimmed hats this season. You will find the most fashionable shapes, the most attractive trims and such unusally low prices that we are sure you will be pleasantly surprised.

EXCLUSIVENESS AND INDIVIDULITY IN ALL OUR GARMENTS AND HATS IS SOMETHING WE GUARD VERY CAREFULLY. YOU WILL NOT FIND THEM DUPLICATED.

A WORD ABOUT OUR DELIVERIES

UNCLE SAM IS OUR DELIVERY MAN

Anything purchased by out-of-town customers will be delivered to them Parcel Post if they so desire.

We pay delivery charges on all orders mounting to $2.00 or more.

WE WILL TAKE GOOD CARE OF YOUR MAIL ORDERS

THE EXCLUSIVE STORE

HEINS

WHERE QUALITY REIGN

WAUKEGAN, ILLINOIS

About Your Fare to Waukegan

HEIN'S will refund your railroad or car-fare to Waukegan on a purchase of $5.00 or more within a radius fo 30 miles.